A Sign Of The Times

Scenes like this are appearing all over the U.S., following relaxation of rent controls. Guy Laird of St. Louis, Mo., refused to pay a $30-per-month rent increase, which would have jumped his payments from $18 to $48. Here, Laird and his sons, Arthur, centre, 11, and Guy Jr., right, sit with their belongings on the sidewalk, after their eviction.

Zale Outweighs Rocky 3 1/2 Lbs.

CHICAGO (AP) — Champion Tony Zale weighed in at 159 pounds for his middleweight title bout tonight, boasting a 3 1/2-lb. advantage over challenger Rocky Graziano, who tipped 155 1/2.

The weigh-in ceremony took place at the Chicago Stadium, where Zale and Graziano will meet for the second time before a record-breaking gate of $450,000.

Zale weighed one pound less than he did when he knocked out Graziano in the sixth round of their blistering first meeting in New York last September.

Graziano was 1 1/4 pounds heavier than in his first engagement.

Stan Leonard Up With Leaders In Canadian Open

SCARBORO GOLF AND COUNTRY CLUB, Toronto (CP) — Little-known Johnny Palmer of Badin, N.C., jumped into the lead late today in the Canadian open with a smashing 66, five under par, for the first 18 holes of the 72-hole tournament.

Palmer gave no inkling of what was coming when he took a one-over-par 36 for the first nine. After that he could do little wrong and his home nine was a convincing five-under-par 30.

Palmer's show almost eclipsed the great play by the "big threesome," of this tournament—Clayton Heafner, another North Carolinian, from Charlotte; Bobby Locke, the South African, and Stan Leonard of Vancouver.

Heafner led the trio with a 67, followed by Locke with 68 and Leonard with 69.

Also with 69's at that stage were Jimmie Thomson of Chicago and Herman Keiser of Akron, Ohio.

The hot threesome, trailed by a gallery that grew from 1,000 at the starting tee to 2,500 at the finish, put on a sparkling exhibition. Their putters grew hot in turn. First it was Locke, on the early holes, then Heafner, and finally Leonard. Stan missed a birdie on the home hole when his eight-foot putt went over the cup. Heafner missed his 25-foot try and also got down for a par 4. Locke, however, sank a 10-footer and the crowd let out a yell.

Heafner was out in 32, four under par, and came home in 35, even par. Locke took 34 on the out trip and the same coming in. Leonard went around in 34 and 35.

Porky Oliver went one over par on his first nine with 36, but quickly recovered on the last nine and came home in a three-under-par 32.

East-West Split First Tennis Sets

West and east split first sets in the first pair of matches of today's Davis Cup trial play.

Vancouver's powerful Walter Stohlberg, No. 1 player on the west's team, dominated the east's fourth player, Jim Macken of Montreal, 6-4, but was trailing 4-3 in the second set of the three-set match.

Jim's older brother, Brendan, won 6-4 over Vancouver's Jim Skelton in the first set of their match on the adjoining court of the Victoria Tennis Club, Macken led 3-1 in the second set as play continued on the grass courts under a blazing sun.

Fighter Fatally Stabbed In Seattle

SEATTLE (AP) — Four men were held for questioning in the city jail here today in connection with the fatal stabbing of George Rice, 25, during an argument which started at Tuesday night's boxing match at the Civic Arena.

Rice himself had been a boxer. He fought in Golden Gloves tournaments in Columbus, Ohio, and in Spokane and twice appeared professionally since coming to Seattle.

Rice is survived by his wife, Margaret, and two sons, Jackie, four, and Jimmie, 15 months.

Kenneth Bonthus, a friend, told investigators that an argument between Rice and three men sitting near him began during the fight. He said Rice told one of them to quit using obscene language.

When he and Rice left the arena, the other three were outside.

Bonthus declared one of the assailants pushed Rice against a wall and stabbed him in the chest. Rice died in a hospital.

Police Explode 'Murder' Story, Take Girl Into Custody

Police arrested 16-year-old Peggy Scotney, sanatorium employee of Weston, Ont., on a charge of creating a public mischief, after checking her story of a "murder" in a Bloor Street hotel and dumping of the body in the Humber River. The girl collapsed twice while showing detectives over the area. She is shown (above) sprawled on the rocks.

World's Flyweight Titlist Collapses At Weighing-In

GLASGOW (Reuters) — Dado Marino of the Philippines tonight defeated Rinty Monaghan, Irish flyweight champion, when the Irishman was disqualified for persistent holding in the ninth round of a quickly arranged catchweight boxing match. Marino's scheduled opponent, Jackie Paterson, had collapsed at the weighing in.

Nearly 25,000 people braved the driving rain to see the young hard-slugging Filipino score an easy victory over the Irishman. Marino gave away almost six pounds, weighing 110 1/2 to his opponent's 116 1/2.

Paterson, recognized as the world flyweight champion, was to have fought Marino for the title in a bout already postponed twice because Paterson was suffering from boils.

Today it was announced he had collapsed at the weighing in but that he hoped to fight Marino later.

Boxing officials now must decide whether or not Paterson forfeited the title and whether to declare it vacant.

Paterson's trainer, John Rafferty, disclosed that the Scottish fighter worked out at midnight in an effort to get down to 112 pounds, but still was two pounds over when he arose this morning. He said that Paterson then tried to skip rope, but collapsed and was assisted to bed.

Report LaGuardia 'Quite A Sick Man'

NEW YORK (AP) — Former Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia, who was operated on June 18 for a pancreas condition, was described today by his physician as "quite a sick man."

Dr. George Baehr said LaGuardia's convalescence was "extremely slow" and the post-operative prognosis indicated he was "far from well." LaGuardia, former director general of Unrta, returned to his home last Saturday.

Local Option Plebiscites Planned On Beer Sales

Attorney-General Gordon S. Wismer said today that for the first time in seven years local option plebiscites on sale of beer by the glass will be held in British Columbia this fall.

Sixteen petitions seeking beer votes now are being checked by the liquor authorities as a preliminary to arranging for balloting. Among them is one seeking establishment of beer parlors in North Vancouver.

The government is also planning to submit plebiscites in some cases on veterans' clubs beer licences.

One application received by the B.C. government involves a community from southern Vancouver Island, but approval has not yet been given the application.

Mr. Wismer said the applications represented a backlog of the war years during which, it was decided, no plebiscites would be held.

So far, no applications have been received from "wet" areas seeking to go "dry."

A petition qualifying for approval of holding a plebiscite requires the signatures of only 35 per cent of the voters in the area concerned.

Plan Court Move On Ferry Rates

SEATTLE (AP) — Capt. Alexander M. Peabody, president of the Puget Sound Navigation Company, announced today that the company will start court action to stay the effective date of the new Puget Sound ferryboat rates as soon as lawyers prepare the necessary papers.

The firm announced last week it would close down if the court does not intercede in its behalf. The State Department of Transportation recently disallowed a 30 per cent rate increase set Feb. 15, reducing it to 10 per cent.

Group Of Assassins Murdered Stowaway Police Probe Shows

MONTREAL (CP) — "Our investigation has led us to believe that the stowaway lost his life at the hands of a group of assassins," declared Deputy Police Director Hilaire Beauregard today, speaking of the Quebec Provincial Police probe into the death of a stowaway aboard the Canadian cargo ship, Maria G.

Then, he added: "But we haven't been able to prove it as yet."

The stowaway, tentatively identified as C. H. Hellmeier, a Shanghai restaurateur, was found dead aboard the vessel last April and the body was buried at sea off the coast of India.

"We may never be able to prove it was murder, but the case definitely is not shelved and we are pressing investigation," said Beauregard.

He stated a crew member who "undoubtedly knows the whole story" would be called upon shortly. The police official mentioned no names.

Britain To Buy Soviet Timber

LONDON (Reuters) — Britain has negotiated contracts with the Soviet Union for supplies of Russian timber, a spokesman of the British trade delegation to Moscow said on arrival by plane tonight.

MOSCOW (AP) — Authoritative British sources said today there was a good possibility of concluding a British-Russian trade agreement soon.

These sources were more optimistic than at any time previously. Harold Wilson, British Secretary of Overseas Trade, and his delegation have been holding conversations nightly with Russian Foreign trade officials.

More Jobs Open

VANCOUVER (CP) — Job openings in British Columbia are on the increase with announcement today that the number of available positions showed a rise of 1,122 from July 3 to 10. Totals now stand at 5,284 job opportunities for men, while employment chances for women number 2,742.

Another Chapter In Grim Murder Tragedy Closed

TORONTO (CP) — The Crown today failed in its appeal against Mrs. Evelyn Dick's acquittal on a charge of murder in the slaying of her husband.

The prosecution appealed the acquittal by a jury last March on the grounds that Chief Justice J. C. McRuer was wrong in law in ruling that statements made to police by Mrs. Dick were inadmissible at her second trial in the torso slaying of her husband, John, at Hamilton in March, 1946.

It was the second time the Ontario Court of Appeal had ruled the statements to police were inadmissible. It did so when Mrs. Dick appealed the conviction reached at her first trial on the same charge.

The court's judgment ended another chapter in the bizarre story of the slaying of the Hamilton streetcar motorman in which three persons were charged and none convicted of the actual crime.

Mrs. Dick, however, was convicted of manslaughter in the death of an infant and sentenced to life imprisonment. Her father, Donald MacLean, pleaded guilty to a charge of being an accessory after the fact in the slaying and was sentenced to five years.

MacLean was acquitted of a murder charge in the Dick slaying after Mr. Justice A. M. Lebel had taken the case from an assize jury at his trial last March. The same jury returned a directed verdict of acquittal in the case of William Bohozuk, the third person originally charged.

Lady Mountbatten Freed Of Charges

WASHINGTON (AP) — The $185.05 worth of worthless cheques given by Lady Iris Mountbatten O'Malley, 27, were covered by her lawyer today, and all charges against the cousin of the King are to be dropped.

Her counsel, Thomas G. Carney, paid the money to Louis M. Denit, lawyer for a dress shop at which the blonde peeress gave the cheques.

Mrs. Wilhelmina Adams, the owner of the shop, had said she would drop complaints against Lady Iris upon payment of the money.

Want Grants Probed

QUEBEC (CP) — Quebec district officials of the Canadian Catholic Confederation of Labor will ask the Veterans' Affairs Department in Ottawa to investigate distribution of government grants being paid to employers of former servicemen, it was disclosed today.

Laurent Morency, Quebec district president of the Union, said that in one or two cases reported the employers had not received their grant and a pay cut had been absorbed by the worker. Ordinarily, the grant is split between employer and employee.

U.N. Delegates May Set Independent Watch On Greece

LAKE SUCCESS (AP)—An authoritative source said today some United Nations delegates were considering the possibility of setting up a Greek border watch outside the world organization if Russia blocks Security Council action on the Balkans.

The source said this was one possible step should the Security Council turn down a United States proposal for establishing a United Nations semi-permanent commission to watch over the Balkan border areas.

If Russia vetoes the U.S. commission plan, this informant said, Greece could invite other members of the United Nations to form an independent commission which could make its headquarters on Greek soil and watch over the border area.

Such a commission, he explained, would have no powers, but could gather information. The members, through their governments, could place the information at the disposal of the United Nations when the General Assembly meets in September.

There also were suggestions in some quarters that if the Security Council failed to act in the Balkan case then the United States or Britain might bring the case before the General Assembly.

It appeared, however, that both Britain and the United States would exhaust all other means before joining in an independent watch over the Balkan borders from Greek soil.

Montreal Squatters Leave Peacefully

MONTREAL (CP)—Police reported today that all was peaceful on St. Helen's Island, where approximately 80 members of 16 families were evicted from an army barracks by the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation on authority of the federal Justice Department.

Assistant Director Alfred Belanger, handling the city police end of the case, said the ousted families, including a dozen squatters and four non-rent-payers, slept Tuesday night in the open just outside the former army guards' barracks.

While before the barracks stood an R.C.M.P. constable hut to prevent any "re-squat," the area around about was cluttered with furniture and personal effects removed from the huts.

Municipal police were on hand to maintain order. The 32 children and 32 adults, in most cases, made themselves "right at home" outside their erstwhile homes where the families had moved in without authority during the spring.

J. S. Hodson of Central Mortgage and Housing, said the St. Helen's Island project—renovation of the huts—was undertaken in May, 1946, under the emergency shelter regulations and it had been intended the barracks should be a "cushion" to be used for worthy veterans who found themselves without accommodation.

The government corporation moved to evict the families, issued several warnings and took legal moves designed to oust the squatters but they refused to move. Tuesday they were ousted on warrants for possession issued by the Justice Department.

Brigadier To Retire To Kamloops Ranch

OTTAWA (CP)—Brig. William N. Bostock, Canadian military attaché to the Chinese government since December, 1945, is retiring to civil life, army headquarters announced today. Brig. Bostock has been a permanent force officer since 1930.

In 1943 he served six months at the Pacific Command, Vancouver, after periods of service with the 1st and 2nd Canadian Divisions overseas.

Now on retirement leave, he intends to go west and take up ranching in the Kamloops area.

Hitch In British Wheat Agreement With Argentina

LONDON (Reuter)—A $1,800,000 hitch has arisen in the British Food Ministry's bulk contract for 500,000 tons of Argentine wheat.

This contract was arranged early this year through official channels. The British Food Ministry regarded the price as "free on board," but the Argentine government regarded it as "free alongside ship." The difference between the two is about 26 Argentine pesos or almost $8 a ton. On the 232,000 tons of the contract so far shipped, it amounts to about 6,000,000 pesos or $1,800,000.

Shipping firms in Argentina which handle the business are temporarily out of pocket to this extent until the Argentine and British authorities reach agreement as to which of them is responsible for this charge.

The price under this contract has never been disclosed. It is understood the Argentine government provisionally invoices at 400 pesos ($120) a ton, but subject to retrospective adjustment in the light of higher prices obtained from other countries.

This provisional price itself equals $3.25 a bushel, dearer than North American wheat. United States wheat costs about $2.50 a bushel, while Canada's bulk contract price to Britain ($1.55 at the head of the Great Lakes) equals only $1.75 a bushel at seaboard. It was learned also that a similar technical hitch may develop in the British Food Ministry's bulk contract for Argentine corn.

Automobile Plants Close For Week; More Steel Wanted

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors Corporation will take a week off from manufacturing passenger cars, starting next Monday, because of the United States steel industry's "disturbed conditions."

G.M., which makes roughly half of this country's automobiles said its steel supplies were too short to permit full-time operations. It blamed the "coal mining situation" of early July.

Ultimately 180,000 workers will be laid off from the corporation's assembly lines, a G.M. spokesman said. The corporation, which employs a total of 265,010 production workers, recently reached a weekly output of 30,000 cars.

There were no immediate indications, however, that other major manufacturers of motor cars would follow suit.

G.M.'s president, C. E. Wilson, announced the shut-down plans Tuesday night.

Plants in Michigan, employing 115,000 workers, will be closed first, and another 65,000 will be laid-off as other plants become affected through lack of supplies from feeder plants in Michigan.

Truck operations will not be affected, nor will G.M.'s household appliance plants, the corporation said. Truck production recently was curtailed for model changes.

General Motors makes Buick, Chevrolet, Pontiac, Oldsmobile and Cadillac cars.

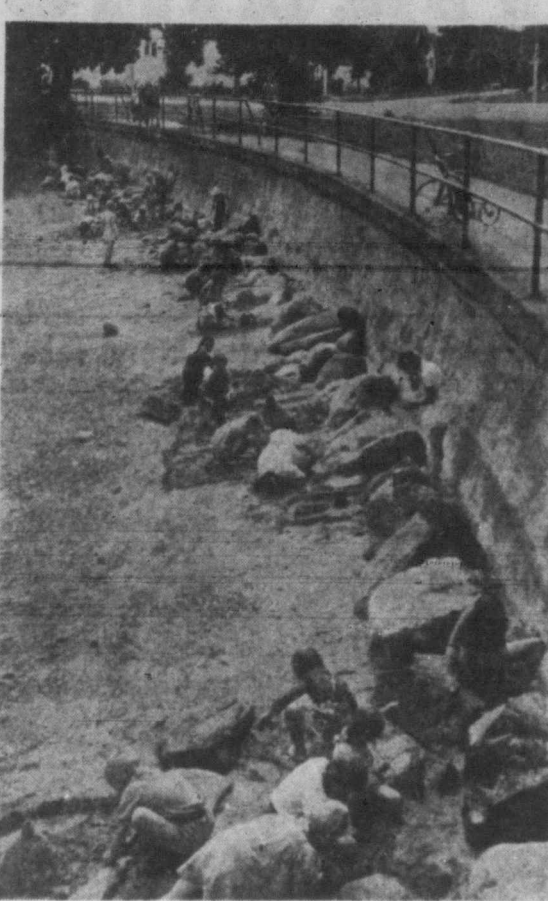

Indians In Planes See Hunting Grounds

HAMILTON, Ont.—In full ceremonial dress, with war paint and great feather headdress some of which included rare white bald eagle feathers, Six Nations Indians recently made history when they took to the air to view the ancient hunting grounds of their forefathers. Eleven of them—four chiefs, two princesses and guests of Russell L. Gibson, president of Cub Aircraft of Canada.

The flight over the "Valley of the Bear," original Indian name for the Dundas Valley, marked the first time any of the 5,000 Six Nations Indians from Oshweken, 13 miles southeast of Hamilton, had been aloft.

Other Building Halted, Castles Rise On Beaches

Oblivious of the fact that this is the week set aside for all construction workers to take a holiday, children of the Windsor Park summer playground went to Oak Bay Beach Tuesday morning and built castles in the sand. Seen above are a few of the 89 children who took part.

Ronald Peto and his friends had the most original castle in the group for children 10 years of age and over. Gloria Pope had the prettiest castle and Carol Stevens and her friends built the biggest castle in this group.

Mrs. Walter Walker and Dr. Henrietta Anderson judged the contest and prizes were presented to the winners by Mrs. H. A. Beckwith, secretary of the playground committee. A small token was given to each child in the contest.

This afternoon, older children from both the Windsor Park and Willows Park playgrounds were taken on a hike along the sea shore by George A. Hardy, of the Provincial Museum.

Thursday afternoon, there will be a fancy dress and talent parade at Willows Park, and Friday a decorated vehicle and talent parade will be held at Windsor Park.

around the question of specialization. It was asked whether it was advisable to permit a medical missionary, for instance, to concentrate on medical work to the virtual exclusion of other activities. The general opinion expressed by the delegates was that a mission worker should be an evangelist and preacher first and a specialist afterward.

Russia Has Army Of Millions Ready Canada Unprepared

War is a prospect Canada must face and General H. D. G. Crear the man who led our armies into Germany says Canada needs compulsory training if we are to be ready. Russia is preparing and for Canada to assume the attitude of "stand on guard" is merely an attitude to invite destruction in the coming war.

According to published figures, Russia, with a population of 195 millions (including areas recently acquired) has some 5 million men actively under arms, plus estimated reserve forces of seven or eight millions. Universal conscription obtains, with a minimum two-year period of training and service.

Canada, with a population of 12,500,000, has presently some 40,000 men in its active forces and plans to reduce this number to 35,000. It is estimated that in 1947 reserve elements of all three services will total 68,000 (as against a reserve establishment for the Canadian Army alone of 180,000). The voluntary system of training and service is in force.

Now you may read the all important facts of Canada's future in the next war in the article entitled "War Is a Prospect Canada Must Face," in the July 15 edition of Maclean's Magazine now on sale at your magazine dealers.

B.C. 1947 Apple Pick Down By One-Fifth, Govt. Estimates

The provincial agricultural department today estimated British Columbia's 1947 apple crop at 2,000,000 boxes less than the record apple harvest of 9,892,070 boxes in 1946.

An estimate made July 12 put the 1947 apple crop at an estimated 7,783,400 boxes, 7,083,800 of which are expected to be produced in the Okanagan district.

The crabapple pick is estimated at 146,625 boxes for this year, against 235,832 boxes last year. The estimated pear harvest is also down to 719,300 boxes from the 1946 total of 775,860 boxes.

A gain in the grape harvest this year over last year is anticipated, however, the pick this year being estimated at 2,792,350 pounds, compared with 2,193,152 pounds in 1946.

The department's estimates showed an anticipated loss in apple harvests in all districts of the province except the Oliver-Osoyoos area, where a pick of 662,050 boxes is expected this year, compared with 599,754 actually harvested last year.

On Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands an apple harvest of 24,000 boxes is anticipated, compared with 25,916 boxes picked last year. The islands' crabapple pick is put at 510 boxes this year, compared with 510 last year, while the pear harvest is expected to total 4,000 boxes this year, compared with 4,250 boxes last year.

The grape pick on Vancouver Island and the Gulf Islands has been estimated at 60,000 pounds, compared with 60,660 pounds picked during 1946.

Nuclear Energy Of Sun May Be Used

VANCOUVER (CP)—Key to the use of nuclear energy from the sun may come "by accident" through current research with "radioactive isotopes," Dr. George M. Volkoff, physics professor at the University of British Columbia, said in an address Friday night.

"Perhaps we should abandon the idea of building bigger and better nuclear energy plants and start trying to find how to use solar energy," he said. "Energy from the sun is delivered to our doorsteps every day—the only catch is that we don't know how to use it or store it."

Dr. Volkoff, former head of the theoretical physics section of the National Research Council atomic energy branch, considered developments allowing widespread use of atomic energy were a long way off.

NECESSARY EVIL?

THE EXTENT OF BRITAIN'S ECONOMIC
pight, particularly now that she has taken steps to pay her creditors in dollars
instead of pounds if they so elect, is no more plainly indicated than in the latest proposal advanced by Mr. Arthur Deakin, the general secretary of the Transport and General Workers' Union. Although heretofore directly opposed to any form of peacetime labor conscription, this official of the world's largest trade union—1,300,000 strong
—has come out in favor of a draft of "non-productive" workers to fill vital industrial needs.

There is speculation in Britain that Deakin may have spoken with government approval, advancing his proposal in order to test its reception by the rank and file of labor. Whether or not this may be true, the suggested drafting of labor marks a complete about-face on the part of this responsible union official and indicates a still growing realization of the severe straits in which his country now finds herself. Britain must export at all costs in order to lessen the drain on her foreign currency. She needs more workers in the export industries,
and the economists are looking hungrily at
the men and women who are employed in enterprises which produce luxury and non-essential goods merely for home consumption. A peace-time labor draft, drastic as this may be, would provide one solution.

The proposal will rouse many worthy arguments in opposition. Even in the face of economic disaster, the British worker will be reluctant to sanction the imposition of further restrictions and checks on his life as a civilian. Wartime conscription was something to be endured in a time of national peril and discarded as soon as possible. Its re-imposition now, on top of all the annoyances and hardships of "austerity living,"
would require some very effective persuasion on the part of the authorities.

GETTING NOWHERE FAST?

REGARDLESS OF THE SINISTER CONdition obtaining on the Greek border,
and irrespective of what the Security Council of the United Nations may do about this troubled spot, it is becoming increasingly obvious that the attitude of the Soviet Union toward any concerted move to prevent further armed conflict is patently suspect. This would seem to pose two questions: Will it be desirable for the General Assembly when it meets in New York next September to discuss the whole question of the veto—its use and abuse? Will it be desirable for the General Assembly to canvass the idea of amending some of the provisions of the San Francisco Charter so that this vital document and its principal purpose may become more applicable to the newly-developed dis-contents of these times than it appears to be at present?

It is unfortunate that this second universal attempt to prevent further war should have to be subjected to what amounts to a modernized version of sabotage. Peace-loving and decent folk the world over are finding it extremely difficult to reconcile the point of view manifested by the men in charge at the Kremlin with that of the hopes and aspirations of the Russian peasant—the tens of millions of men and women in whose breasts beat hearts attuned to the lessons of the soil.

STRANGE ARGUMENT

ONE OF THE STRANGEST EDITORIAL
comments on Monday's by-election in Halifax yet to appear erupted in the columns of our morning contemporary yesterday. It said in part that Liberal supporters of the government may easily make "too much" of this victory.

Nobody will seriously complain of this platitude. But when we are told that "Haligonians have given a measure of encouragement to an administration which has not done conspicuously well at recent public tests," the local journalistic supporter of the Progressive Conservative cause is figuratively whistling to keep up his courage.
For in view of the striking fact that Monday's polling in the important Atlantic Coast constituency revealed that the votes recorded for Mr. Bracken's nominee were not only a good 10,000 less than the triumphant Liberal's tally, but also 1,500 less than the C.C.F. candidate who finished in second place, the comment in question becomes more fantastic.

In other words, if the Colonist is serious
when it argues that Liberal supporters of the Federal Government may make "too much" of this recent test of public opinion,
how does it propose to calm the political nerves of Mr. Bracken who is confronted with the statistics of voting in the 1945 general election. These disclose that the lowest total polled by one of the two Progressive Conservative candidates in this
two-seat riding on that occasion was 18,035
—or 5,000 more than Progressive-Conservative MacDonald attracted on Monday.

What those voluble critics of the King government, as well as the few Canadian newspapers which still subscribe to the outmoded Tory political philosophy, should realize at this stage of the nation's progress is that Toryism in the generally accepted sense of the term is as extinct as the Dodo. There is nevertheless a lesson in the Halifax by-election for those provincial Liberals and Progressive Conservatives in B.C. to bear in mind as some elements of both parties try to imagine that the time has arrived for the return to party lines. If the result of the Halifax and other by-elections which have been held in this country during the last year or so have taught those allegedly wise political prophets anything, it should be that three-party contests are fraught with dangers to majority rule.

IMPORTANT JOB

THE CANADIAN MOTION PICTURE
Industry's publication, "Film Weekly,"
of recent date, takes up the editorial cudgels
in defence of the National Film Board against opposition attacks in the House of Commons. The criticism voiced by non-government members centred largely on the expense entailed in the work of the N.F.B. In reply, "Film Weekly," which we presume is acquainted with the costs of picture production, states charges are normal. It proceeds to outline some of the excellent documentaries that have been made and shown to audiences in the Dominion and in foreign lands. The record is enlightening.

But "Film Weekly" does not rest its case there. It points to the work to be done in future. Says the publication:

"The Canadian film is a new means of communication that is immeasurably valuable in helping to create and expand a strong and true Canadian spirit. N.F.B. films are national in content, appeal and distribution and as such
are a leading means of expressing that message."

Those acquainted with the merits of visual education need little persuasion to see the strength of that argument. Nor do they require tutelage in the need to have simple media through which to impress
new Canadians with true concepts of Cana-dianism. But they must realize that to do a thorough job, the films that are produced for this purpose must be of high quality. Technically and artistically they must be such as to catch and hold the interest of those who see them and leave their message adequately engraved on the memory. That type of film cannot be made for small change. The public will appreciate that point when it studies National Film Board estimates.

SOME WOULD REVIVE IT

RT. HON. ERNEST BEVIN, BRITAIN'S Foreign Secretary, had heartening words for the French Republic on Monday
when he spoke in Paris on the anniversary of the Fall of the Bastille—the national holiday commemorating the beginning of the end of despotism. He spoke of the indivisibility of the French and British paths toward common goals of democracy—"the desire to achieve the same objective"—and he urged the people of France to "be of good cheer; the future is with those who love and live for freedom."

But there was warning as well as encouragement in such an utterance on such a day. The Bastille, the 1789 capture of which by civilian mobs was celebrated on July 14,
was, according to the history books, "notorious as a place to imprison those who criticized the government or persons in power."

France does not have to look far eastward today to find many counterparts of the Bastille, where are held thousands—even hundreds of thousands—who were so unwise as to "criticize the government or persons in power."

There is a lesson in such contemplation
for the descendants of those who destroyed
the fortress-jail of Louis XVI. There are many in France who would like to put the Bastilles back into use, although they are called "concentration camps" and "labor camps" today. Not since France ended the reign of despot kings has she been so threatened from inside her own borders. Be he king or commissar, a despot does not change his tactics, and he cannot govern without a Bastille for those who do not agree with him.

A LONG AND GRACIOUS LIFE

MINDFUL OF THE DEBT THEY OWE
to those pioneers who helped to build
this city from the wilderness, Victorians paused in their activities today to honor the memory of Miss Susan Reynolds Crease, whose life of usefulness and kindness ended yesterday at the age of 92. With her passing another of the few remaining threads binding the present to the community's early history was severed. Victoria, the trading post, had been in existence less than two decades when the five-year-old Crease, took up residence here; following passage by sailing ship from England. In this community she grew to maturity, assuming the responsibilities which fell to the early settlers in bringing character to a city of which she was proud.

At "Pentrelew," a home of early distinction, she became widely known as a member of a family which brought to and preserved for the district destined to become the capital city of the province an atmosphere of old world graciousness and charm.
And in the widening realm of Victoria's development she played an active part in stimulating cultural life. A charter member of the Local Council of Women, she served for many years as its president, while in the affairs of Christ Church Cathedral she was an exceedingly valuable and highly-respected worker. Her unostentatious contributions to this city for the greater part of its existence are deeply appreciated.

Problems For India

By WICKHAM STEED
LORD LOUIS MOUNTBATTEN, VICE-
roy of India, has found a way to remind the India party leaders that they must lose no time in getting ready to take over, on August 15, full responsibility for the government of their country. He gave them, on June 22, a special desk calendar bearing the words "Fifty-five days to prepare for the transfer of power." This number has decreased daily and preparedness has been rendered more urgent.

The reason for urgency lies in the need to prevent administrative chaos in India.
Neither the United Kingdom government nor the Indian leaders may have realized at first that Britain's original decision to transfer power "not later than June, 1948," might leave the country without effective control for several months. It soon appeared that United Kingdom officials, hitherto responsible for law and order, could no longer, as temporary stop-gaps, wield unquestioned authority. Communal antagonism between the (mainly Hindu) supporters of the Congress Party and those of the Muslim League threatened to bring on civil war. In these circumstances, any Indian national government might have been faced a year hence
with a catastrophic position.

ARRANGEMENTS for the earlier transfer of power were therefore imperative in the interest of India herself. Since that interest has been the supreme and abiding aim of Britain's rule, the Viceroy proposed,
and the Indian parties accepted, a scheme for the transfer of power by August 15 to two separate Indian political entities, Hin-dustan and Pakistan, each of which would enjoy, provisionally, the status of a Dominion of the British Commonwealth. In order that Hindustan and Pakistan should be in religious allegiance as homogeneous as possible, the scheme recognized the necessity of dividing Bengal and Punjab, the two provinces mainly affected, into predominantly Hindu and Muslim areas. This feature of the scheme has also been accepted
by the Legislative Assemblies of both provinces.

The Constituent Assemblies for Hin-dustan and Pakistan can now proceed to frame
constitutions for their respective territories
and to form responsible administrations.
Neither will find these positive tasks altogether easy. Leaders long schooled in negative opposition to Britain's rule, or in religious antagonism to each other, will require constant effort to adjust their outlook
and their methods to the work of responsible government.

NOR IS THIS ALL. Some means must be found to regulate the relationships of Hindustan and Pakistan to the 562 states of non-British India, which have hitherto preserved varying degrees of independence
under the princes who were subject only to the paramountcy of the British Crown.

It is often forgotten that these 562
states cover an area of 712,000 square miles
or about two-fifths of the whole of India.
Their inhabitants number no fewer than 93,000,000, or nearly one-fourth of the total Indian population. In some of the states,
as in Hyderabad and Bhopal, Muslim princes rule subjects mainly Hindu; or as in Kashmir, a Hindu prince rules Muslim subjects.
All these princes regard themselves as allies of the British Crown; but the British Crown has no power to transfer their alliance, or its own paramountcy, either to Hindustan or Pakistan. Even had it this power it could hardly, for example, uphold Nizam of Hyderabad, the foremost upholder of Islam among the Indian princes, to the future Muslim Dominion of Pakistan without consideration for his 16,000,000 subjects,
more than nine-tenths of whom are Hindus.
Nor could the Hindu Maharajah of Kashmir be transferred to Hindustan, seeing that most of his 4,000,000 subjects are Muslims.

UNDER THESE conditions it is not surprising that some Indian princes should claim the right to be entirely independent of Hindustan and Pakistan, or that others should wish to negotiate a transfer of their allegiance to one of the two Indian Dominions. Yet while Mr. Jinnah, leader of the Muslim League, recognises the right of princes to independence, the Congress Party contests it and regards Hindustan as the legitimate successor to Britain's paramountcy. In this controversy the United Kingdom government and the Viceroy take no sides. They look upon the future relationship between Hindustan, Pakistan and the Indian princes as a matter to be settled by the Indians themselves. Hardly less important than the position of the Indian states is the future of the Indian Army.
Had it been possible—as the United Kingdom government and the Viceroy hoped it might be—to preserve the political unity of British India, the withdrawal of United Kingdom troops might have left the military unity of India unimpaired. Deep-seated religious antagonism between Hindus and Muslims—an antagonism often and always foolishly ascribed to United Kingdom investigation—has unfortunately rendered inevitable the division of British India; and it is by no means certain that Hindustan and Pakistan will agree to maintain an undivided defence organization.

THE UNITARY INDIAN Army shares the desire of the Commander-in-Chief, Field-Marshal Auchinleck, and of Field-Marshal
Lord Montgomery, chief of the Imperial General Staff, who is now in Delhi, to keep the Indian fighting forces as efficient bonds
of union between Hindustan and Pakistan.
Whether their desire can be fulfilled may depend upon the statesmanship of Hindu
and Muslim leaders alike.

'Want A Good Cleaner-Upper Man?'

And They Can't Blame Nelson

By PETER EDSON From Washington

ONE OF THE MOST devastating broadsides ever fired against the U.S. Navy's social caste system and its silly etiquette has just come booming off
the presses in a work called "Off My Sea Chest," by Lewis H. Con-arroe.

The author is a Philadelphia
Mainliner who probably had no business in the navy in the first place. He was underweight even after two over-stuffed meals and several quarts of water. But he used his drag and a couple of trips to see the right people in Washington and they made him
an officer.

His first assignment was to a cruiser in drydock. Here navy tried to make him into a gentleman. There was a war on, he points out, and something had to be done fast to give him enough social polish to associate with the regulars.

'NICETIES'
A lieutenant commander set up a Little Annapolis and proceeded to teach the reservists how to pay formal calls, how to write a letter, when to wear grey gloves, when not to wear 'em.
Instruction on how to eat was contained in a paper which quoted liberally from Emily Post.
It was marked "Confidential.
Officers only." It contained such gems as "Drinking coffee with the spoon left in the cup . . . is an unforgivable offense."
Like nearly all reservists, Lt.
(j.g.) Conarroe takes a dim view of Annapolis glamour and grads.

"As if their bloated egos were not already turkey size," he writes, "there is bred into them
a lofty intolerance and disdain
for the undisciplined world outside their gates, and a sense of snobishness that makes Princeton look like reform school."

'PRESUMPTUOUS'
He tells about one, whom he calls "Lieutenant Priggish," who once told him, "I resent anyone who consciously or unconsciously makes me feel that I must consider his feelings before I can act on my own impulses." Later this same "Priggish" told the author, "I find your assumption of friendship presumptuous.
Friendship is not one of my weaknesses."

Conarroe writes that he tried to get administrative jobs for which he was fitted by business experience, but the navy would have none of that.

At Norfolk he busted a tooth
just before he was to go to sea on convoy duty. He couldn't get it fixed because he couldn't find the base dental officer and chief of staff to sign Form G-604 (C) /44 for him.

The navy, he learned, "is like a cumbersome cement mixer in which, once the machinery is set in action, individual ambition has no more chance than a pebble
tossed into its revolving drum.
The cement mixer is, in turn,
only an incidental unit of the far more complex, far more costly machinery the demands of waging war had set up at Washington, D.C. No one brain, I dare say, has ever grasped the extent and full potential of Naval G.H.Q. on the Potomac."

PRIVILEGES

He tells a lot about R.H.I.P.— Rank Has Its Privileges. There was, for instance, the case of the sail locker room that was made secure for 48 hours and couldn't work on asbestos gloves for the hot shell men because the sailmaker had been ordered to work
on chintz curtains for the captain's cabin.

He learned about cumshaw—
the petty grafts and rackets. Like that of the top officers on one ship who gave their wives' shopping lists to the wardrobe mess
treasurer, who bought groceries
with the mess red and blue points
and delivered them in the ship's station wagon.

There are classic stories about
one admiral who lost his corset,
and a description of another who forced collections from officers of lower rank.

At one time in his career
Conarroe was made cigar mess-
treasurer on a gunnery training
ship that never left Potomac Bay.

SALUTE ENLISTED MEN

For the enlisted man in the navy, the Lieutenant's cap goes off. "He had to live not only at the bottom of the social ladder," he writes, "but also at the foot of the steel one leading down
from regions of fresh air and sunlight. Sometimes his bunk and locker were 20 or 30 frames
apart and on different decks."

The Wool Duty—Protectionism In The U.S.

By R. J. DEACHMAN

THE United States lives in a new age but fails to recognize that fact.

For years it has been the highest protectionist country in the world. These challenging tariff peaks have aided in maintaining,
in other countries, tariffs almost equally high.

Today the world has changed.
One way trade is impossible. The smaller nations will never break down their own tariff walls until
the United States begins, in dead earnest, to lower its barriers, begins, in fact, to welcome
imports as gladly as it welcomes exports.

Consider the case of raw wool.
There was a conference at Geneva seeking world-wide tariff reductions. Wool was not a big item in the whole program but it was important to Australia, New Zealand, South Africa. An American tariff lobby chose that moment
for an effort to raise still higher the restrictions on imports of raw wool.

STINGING COMMENTS

All's well that ends well. The measure passed the Senate and Congress. The President vetoed it and in so doing made these stinging comments:

"The enactment of a law providing for additional barriers to the importation of wool at the very moment when this government is taking the leading part in a United Nations Conference
at Geneva called for the purpose of reducing trade barriers and of drafting a charter for an international trade organization, in an effort to restore the world to economic peace, would be a tragic

Fifty For One

Norway Digest

For several days, officials of Norway's Haakon-7 Lottery had been unable to find the holder of the first prize ticket—a slip of paper making some lucky person
the owner of a brand new home, completely furnished. During the past months, interest in this nation-wide drive to raise funds
for relief purposes had risen steadily as the fateful drawing approached. A near calamity resulted, however, when the telling number was drawn and no winner stepped forward. Following days of waiting, however, the winning ticket was found in a desk drawer at the Norsk Vacuum Co. in Oslo when a company
clerk thought he would take a look, just in case. The firm had purchased several books of tickets for its employees, but it appears that no one thought of distributing them. The 50 employees are now meeting to determine what to do with their house. With a ready sale guaranteed, it has been suggested that the house be sold and that proceeds be divided as vacation bonuses for the 50 fortunate employees.

mistake. It would be a blow to our leadership in world affairs.
It would be interpreted around the world as a first step on that same road to economic isolationism down which we and other countries traveled after the First World War with such disastrous consequences."

GAINS IN LOWER DUTY

What could the United States
gain by increased restriction on imports of raw wool? Nothing whatever. The wool growing business in the United States is now costing the people of that country
more than it is worth. There would have been broad gains for the people of the United States
from a lower duty on wool. It would have reduced the price of clothing. It would have stimulated trade between the United States, New Zealand, Australia, and South Africa. It might very well have been the spark plug
which would have started trade
moving throughout the world.

Why did the American Congress and Senate yield to this temptation? Some years ago Mussolini made this statement:
"Majorities are inert, minorities are dynamic." There is the reason for the success of despots. They rally to their own cause the coercive fervor of small groups seeking their own ends, indifferent to the general good. They constitute one of the great dangers, not only to prosperity, but to the peace of the world.

Global Survey

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

THE UNITED STATES government has just issued its official statement of policy governing Germany since the war, and takes the stand that a stable and productive Germany is necessary to make Europe orderly and prosperous.

This historic statement is in the form of a directive to the United States occupation force in Germany. It instructs Lt.-Gen.
Clay, American zone commander,
to exert every effort to achieve
economic unity with other zones,
and says highest priority should be given to increased production
of coal, food and export goods.

The greatest importance must be attached to this declaration in view of the increasing gravity of the European economic crisis. It is a situation which is going to be worse before it can start to get better. To use the graphic warning of French Premier Ramatier: "The hour has come for Europe to organize or die."

COAL CRITICAL

The United States directive takes on particular significance in view of the approaching Anglo-American conference in Washington to discuss methods for increasing the all-important coal production of the Ruhr upon which economic recovery not only of Germany but of Europe depends so heavily. That conference is likely to pivot on a show-down between the two countries over the British Socialist government's insistence on nationalization of the Ruhr coal mines. The United States has opposed this, and the other day proposed that nationalization
be deferred for five years.

Of course it's easy to understand why a Socialist government, which ranks nationalization as one of its cardinal tenets,
should want to see it carried out in Germany and elsewhere. It will be surprising, however, if an ideological argument is allowed to stymie an agreement for German recovery. After all, while the British Socialist government believes it is on the right economic road at home, it still has to demonstrate it. We are dealing with a theory and not a demonstrated fact.

AGAINST REVERSION

However, I judge that there's more to the British stand than that revolving about the iron Richton doesn't want to see the riches of the Ruhr revert to the control of the war-mongering Prussian junkers. What with its coal, and the vast Krupp armament works, the Ruhr was the material mainspring of German aggression.

When it comes down to the question of the Prussian warlords getting control of the Ruhr again, surely there can be small ground for dispute among the Allies. One of the main objectives of the war was to put Prussianism out of business. Still, nationalization isn't the only
method of handling this situation.
International control might turn
the trick, and it seems a fair guess that something along that line will come up for serious consideration at the Washington conference.

If these two major powers can't agree over Germany, what's the use of asking the countries of western Europe to reach an accord over economic reconstruction of the continent?

THE YOUNG EMIGRANTS

Ottawa Journal
Our job surely, if we want to keep our young people, is to make Canada the sort of country
that will deserve affection; to make it a land where justice and mercy are revered, where the dignity of the individual is honored, where human worth is respected, and where liberty is jealously guarded. Our job, in short, is to make it a matter of pride for a Canadian to say: "I am a Canadian." To make our young people get the "feel" of Canada, to love its past, to be proud of its present, to dream
and hope for its future.

If we can do that, if we can aim at it, a day must come when our fears over loss of the best of our sons will have vanished. It should be an aim worth trial.

Return From Holiday Cruise Among Gulf Islands

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. "Rolly" Halls, their daughter, Roberta, and baby son, Sidney, who was asleep down in the cabin when this picture was taken, have just returned from a week's vacation among the islands of the Gulf of Georgia, aboard their power cruiser, Roberta II. Mr. Halls was first commodore of the Vancouver Island Power Boat Squadron and this year is a member of the squadron's race committee.

Double-Ring Service Today For Irene Hall, Ernest Moore

Wedding rings were exchanged today at 2.30 before immediate family members by Miss Irene Isobel, eldest daughter of Mrs. Margaret Hall, 472 Admirals Road, and the late Lancelot D. Hall, and Ernest Edward Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. William S. Moore, 2840 Gosworth Road.

Dr. A. E. Whitehouse read the service, for which Edgar Holloway played traditional wedding music.

White gladioli and pastel sweet peas formed an attractive setting for the bride in her afternoon frock of heavenly blue, designed with scalloped Bertha front forming capelet sleeves, and scalloped peplum over slim skirt. Her crownless off-the-face hat of fine straw and long gloves were of crisp white and she wore a corsage bouquet of pale pink rosebuds and stephanotis. Her elder brother, Craig G. Hall, gave her in marriage.

A white off-the-face hat trimmed in pink blossoms, and pink mitts were worn by Mrs. Claire Clarke, bridal attendant, with her button-down-front crepe frock of pastel pink. White gladioli tips and roses were in her corsage bouquet.

T. A. Booth stood with the groom as best man. Family members and intimate friends were received by the bride and groom and their mothers at a reception at Strathcona Hotel. Pastel sweet peas and white candles in candelabra flanked the three-tier wedding cake set on the bride's table. P. D. Pready gave the bride's toast.

The wedding trip will be spent motoring up-island, following which Mr. and Mrs. Moore will return to Victoria to make their home.

For her going-away ensemble the bride wore a grey bayathia suit on dressmaker lines with black off-the-face hat, wine topcoat and reptile accessories.

Miss Susan Crease Dies; Here When Island Crown Colony

Miss Susan Reynolds Crease, who came to Vancouver Island when it was a crown colony, died Tuesday morning at the Royal Jubilee Hospital, in her 92nd year.

Born at Antron, Kelston, Cornwall, the second daughter of the late Sir Henry Perring Fellow Crease, famous jurist known as the "father of the bar in British Columbia," and the late Lady Crease, elder daughter of Dr. John Lindley, a well-known botanist, Susan Crease lived the first few years of her life in a peaceful Cornwall village.

In August, 1859, she left England with her mother and two sisters to join her father who had preceded them to Vancouver Island.

The little family made the journey around Cape Horn, aboard the sailing vessel Athelstan, and in the six months they were at sea there were plenty of thrills, especially for the children who at one time were nearly washed overboard.

They arrived in Victoria in February, 1860.

Two years later the family moved to New Westminster, then the capital of the crown colony of British Columbia. In 1868, following the union of the crown colonies, British Columbia and Vancouver Island, they returned to Victoria to make their permanent home.

"PENTRELEW"

It was in 1875 that the Crease family moved into "Pentrelew," the dignified old brown painted wooden house on Fort Street hill, that has become famous down the years not only as the "home of the Creases" but for a hospitality that combined the formality of the old world with the freedom of the new.

Here, Miss Susan Crease grew into womanhood.

In her early youth she attended Miss Fellows' Private School for Girls, in a small building near the corner of Quadra and Broughton Streets.

As a young woman she was hostess with her mother and sisters at tea parties under the Pentrelew oaks, balls in the great drawing-room and dinner parties in the high-ceilinged dining-room where young officers of the British navy and members of those families who have given British

Engagements

Announcements to appear under this heading will be accepted at the Times Advertising Department. Minimum charge $1.50 for 10 lines, and 10c for each additional line.

Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Hackney, Nanaimo, B.C., announce the engagement of their daughter, Amy Louise, to David Anstey, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Anstey, Milner Avenue. The wedding will take place on Aug. 7, at St. Paul's Church, Nanaimo.

Picnic Planned — Sister Lil Jones reported that plans for the picnic had been completed when members of the Ladies' Auxiliary to F.O.E. No. 12, met at the Eagles' Hall. President Amy Sauter was in the chair and two new members were initiated, Mrs. Lillian Goullie and Mrs. Alfreda Collins. Sister L. McLeod was named convener for the fall bazaar. Next regular meeting will be held on Aug. 5.

Miss Susan Crease Dies; Here When Island Crown Colony

MISS CREASE

Columbia a history enjoyed "Pentrelew" hospitality in a picturesque chapter of Victoria that is now forever closed.

In her mature years, Miss Crease who had always been interested in organized women's groups for any worthy or patriotic cause, became a charter member of the Local Council of Women, and later president of the council, a position she held for 25 years.

In 1928 she was made the first life member of the council. Early in 1933, because of ill health, she was forced to retire from active participation in council work.

She was a member of the Church of England and always took a lively interest in the work of her church.

In the last years of her life, she lived quietly at "Pentrelew," with her sister, Miss Josephine Crease, a niece, Mrs. A. D. Muskett and a brother, Lindley Crease, K.C., who predeceased her in 1940. Just a little over a year ago, she entered Royal Jubilee Hospital where she remained until her death.

A private funeral service will be held in Christ Church Cathedral on Thursday afternoon at 3. Dean S. H. Elliott will officiate and interment will be made in the family plot at Ross Bay Cemetery.

MAN AND WIFE SHOULD POOL EFFORTS TO GAIN
COMMON GOOD

One of the reasons why so many marriages are failures is because so few husbands and wives are co-operative. We speak of marriage as a partnership in which a man and woman pool their all of devotion, loyalty, intelligence, thrift and ambition, and in which they work together for their common good.

Unfortunately, however, the majority of married couples are not sold on the idea of husbands and wives doing teamwork, and they make of the marriage partnership one of the bitterest ironies that human lips ever utter. For it rarely exists. No man would treat his business partner the way so many men treat their wives.

The wife, no less than the husband, has invested her all in the career they are starting together, yet there are thousands upon thousands of men who never talk over their business or their plans with their wives, or tell them what they make, or give them a cent of the money they earn as their part of the profits of the firm. Most steno-graphers know far more about their employer's affairs and his interests than his wife does.

LACK OF KNOWLEDGE

Much of the extravagance and wastefulness of which husbands complain is the result of sheer ignorance on the wives' part because they are not in their husbands' confidence. There is no co-operation between them and their husbands and they don't know whether they can afford a mink coat, or whether they should wear last year's hand-me-down.

It is a great mistake on the part of husbands not to interest their wives in their business affairs, for many a woman has a better financial head than her husband. It also puts a crimp in a wife's extravagance if she is made to feel that it is her own money she is spending. Nor does she complain of not having a new car, if the money is going toward enlarging the business in which she is a partner.

Likewise, the man who does not discuss his plans with his wife misses a lot of tips because, call it good judgement or luck as you please, many a man's fortune is built on playing his wife's hunches. And, furthermore, the husbands and wives who do teamwork are never bored with each other. They can always talk shop, which is a topic that is never exhausted.

LACK CO-OPERATION

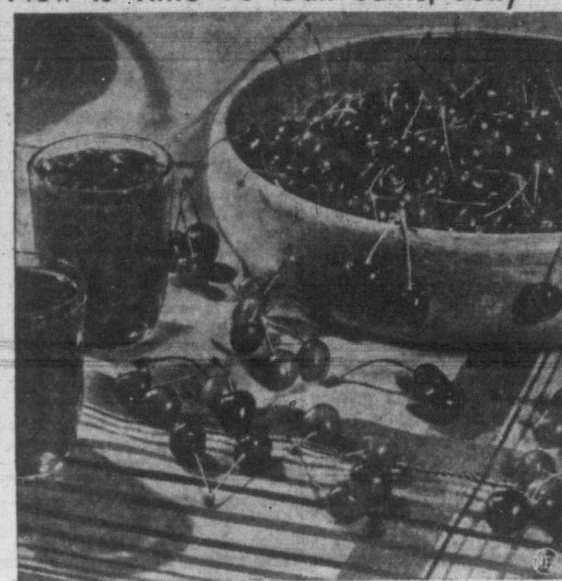

But the main mistake—the criminal mistake—that husband and wives make in not co-operating with each other is in rearing their children. When God ordained that children should have two parents instead of one. He knew what he was about. He knew it was a two-handed job that required the efforts of both a man and a woman and that neither one alone could make a success of it.

That rule still holds good. When a father and mother work together, when they hold up each other's hands in disciplining their youngsters, when they impart to them the same ideals of conduct, the children grow up to be the fine men and women who keep civilization going.

But when parents undermine each other's influence over their children, when fathers teach their children that their mother is a silly woman, who is not to be regarded seriously, and mothers kill their children's respect for their fathers; when fathers and mothers fight against each other in rearing their children, instead of standing shoulder to shoulder in trying to control self-willed youngsters, it gives us the juvenile delinquent problem that is the worst headache of our times.

If we could have the co-operation of husbands and wives, we wouldn't have so many unhappy marriages, so many broken homes and so many divorces.

Now Is Time To Can Jams, Jelly

Ripe cherries make wonderful jelly and jam.

The domestic fruit season is under way, with raspberries, cherries, apricots, plums, cantaloupes. These tested recipes are for the inexperienced home canner. The experienced will recognize their accident-proof value, too.

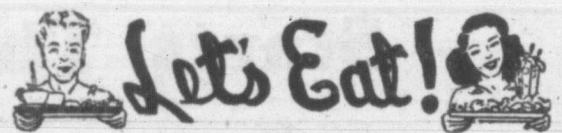

Cherry Jelly—3½ cups cherry juice, ½ cup lemon juice, 7½ cups sugar, 1 bottle fruit pectin. To prepare juice: Stem, do not pit, about 3½ pounds fully ripe sweet cherries and crush thoroughly. Add ½ cup water; bring to boil and simmer, covered, 10 minutes. For stronger cherry flavor, add a few crushed cherry pits during simmering, or add ¼ teaspoon almond extract before pouring jelly. Place in jelly cloth or bag and squeeze out juice. Measure 3½ cups juice into large saucepan. Squeeze and strain juice from 4 medium-size lemons. Measure ½ cup into saucepan with cherry juice.

To Make Jelly—Add sugar to juices in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat and bring to boil, stirring constantly. At once stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then bring to full rolling boil and boil hard ½ minute, stirring constantly; remove from heat, skim, pour quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 11 6-ounce glasses.

Blackberry, Cherry, Raspberry—4 cups prepared fruit, 7½ cups sugar, 1 bottle fruit pectin. To prepare fruit: Crush thoroughly about 1 pint each fully ripe blackberries and red raspberries. Stem and pit about 1½ pounds fully ripe black sweet cherries. Chop fine. Combine fruits and measure 4 cups into large saucepan.

To Make Jam—Add sugar to fruit in saucepan and mix well. Place over high heat, bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute, stirring constantly. Remove from heat and at once stir in bottled fruit pectin. Then stir and skim by turns for 5 minutes to cool slightly, to prevent floating fruit. Ladle quickly into glasses. Paraffin at once. Makes about 11 6-ounce glasses.

Interesting—Well-seasoned cottage cheese becomes much more interesting for sandwich fillings if coarsely chopped almonds and crisp celery are added.

Delicious—Whip apricot whole fruit nectar with sour cream and add a little lemon juice to pep up flavor. Toss this together with finely shredded cabbage.

All-Brin Dumplings—1 egg, ½ cup all-brin, ½ cup milk, 1 cup sifted flour, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons baking powder. Beat egg until light; add all-brin and milk. Sift together flour, salt and baking powder. Add liquid mixture to sifted dry ingredients and stir only until combined. Drop batter by heaping teaspoons on top of hot meat stew. Cover tightly and let simmer for 20 minutes without removing cover.

Tempting—Halves of cantaloupe are tempting filled with a few watermelon balls or with berries or fruits, such as raspberries or sliced peaches.

Different—Cook cauliflower whole. Drain and cover with red-hot cheese sauce. Shower with toasted almonds. Serve immediately.

Almond Sandwiches—1 cup chopped blanched almonds, ½ cup chopped celery, 1 small green onion, mayonnaise, butter, raisin bread, grated cheese, paprika. Combine almonds, celery, finely chopped onion and mayonnaise and blend. Spread on thin rounds of buttered raisin bread and sprinkle tops with cheese or paprika.

Western Salad—1 cup sliced canned peaches, 1 package gelatin, (flavor with lemon juice) 2 cups water, ½ teaspoon salt, 1 cup canned peas, ½ cup diced celery, salad greens, mayonnaise. Drain peaches and dice. Dissolve gelatin in 1 cup of hot water. Add remaining cup of water and salt, and chill. When slightly thickened, add peaches, peas and celery. Pour into a 1½ quart mold and chill until firm. Unmold on salad greens and serve with mayonnaise.

Fish Variety—Serve fillets fried golden brown and topped with almond lemon butter sauce. Slice almonds in strips and brown in melted butter before adding lemon juice.

Cherry Pie—2 cups pitted whole sweet Bing or Lambert cherries, ½ cup cherry juice or water, ¼ teaspoon almond extract, ½ cup white sugar, ½ cup brown sugar, 4 tablespoons flour, standard pastry, based on 2 cups flour, 1 tablespoon butter. Combine cherries, juice, flavoring, sugar and flour. Let stand while making pastry. Line 9-inch pie plate with pastry. Fill with cherry mixture, and dot with butter. Top with lattice strips of pastry. Bake at 425 degrees F. from 35 to 40 minutes.

Summer Special—Heap potato salad on chop plate with few cubes of apple added. Wreath salad with radish roses then with overlapping slices of cold meats.

Picnic Popularity—Wrap a slice of bologna around a strip of cheese; spear with a green stick and roast over coals. Eat it right off the stick.

In salads a sweet and sour combination is extremely popular. Sometimes when we have a salad that is made from tart fruits we use a sweet dressing on it and achieve extra tasty results. A dressing which is very good tasting and looks pretty can easily be made from luscious apricot whole fruit nectar. It's sunshiny color and fresh fruit flavor combine perfectly with other fruits. Because whole fruit nectar is a liquefied fruit it is a more or less thick liquid just as it comes from the can. Simply sweeten the nectar with honey and blend thoroughly. Then fold the nectar honey mixture into stiffly whipped pastry cream. The pleasing dressing is ready to serve on your favorite fruit salad.

Buy Berries, Fruits With Care

It is important to buy your own shopping. Be gentle with fruit when selecting. It is the consumer who pays for any bruises or other damages because the merchant is forced to charge prices high enough to make up for the loss resulting from careless handling by customers.

Also remember that the biggest fruit is not necessarily the best value. For some purposes it is good economy to buy smaller-size fruit.

When fruit is tending toward over-ripeness the dealers try to move it as quickly as possible. In order to do so, they offer it at a considerable reduction in cost. At times great savings can be effected by purchasing such fruits. However, you must pay particular attention to decay, else there may be so much waste in the purchase that the supposed bargain will be an extravagance.

If a fruit is featured at extremely low prices, use caution before buying. Unless you are a good judge of fruit values, you are taking a chance. Try to find out the reason for this condition. If it is the result of an over-supply on the market, you can feel pretty safe in taking advantage of it.

Keep advised of the fruits that are in season in the nearby orchards, not only because home-grown fruits are usually fresher and at the peak of their quality, but also because transportation charges are comparatively negligible, with the attendant saving passed on to the consumers. These economies may be appreciable, especially if you are buying in quantity for canning.

You can feel fairly safe about the content capacity of the standard type of fruit and berry baskets. In some cases, however, the baskets may be trifled with by denting the sides or bottoms, and consequently you will not be getting full measure. Have your dealer tilt the basket so that you can see if the quality is uniform throughout.

2-Year Power Plan

LONDON (Reuter)—Britain will spend £75,000,000 ($300,000,000) on electric power stations under a two-year plan to meet increased demands for electrical power, it was announced Tuesday. New plants will be built and old ones expanded.

Leave Locks Long To Duplicate Easy Double-Purpose Coiffures

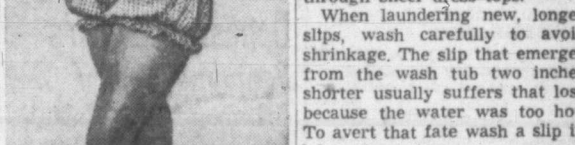

Interchangeable hair-do for brides.

For a dual-dressing style of coiffure—one hair-do for daytime, one for evening—keep the scissors off your locks for awhile. Hair needs to be a little longer for its ups and downs. For its daytime descent—the interchangeable coils above were styled by the Hair Fashion Council of America—she parts it in the middle, coaxes it into soft waves on each side, and curls the ends.

For the upsweep and more gala occasions, the bride carries hair up and over to one side, and corrals the ends into one large curl. This makes a soignée but not a belabored hair-dress for evening.

With enough hair length and a little practice, any girl can make this easy transition from daytime to evening and add another coiffure to her wardrobe of styles.

Lace Lengthens Short Petticoat

Shorn slips which must accommodate new longer dresses can be lengthened by adding lace at the hemline. The heavier and more closely patterned, the less transparent your hemline of lace will be.

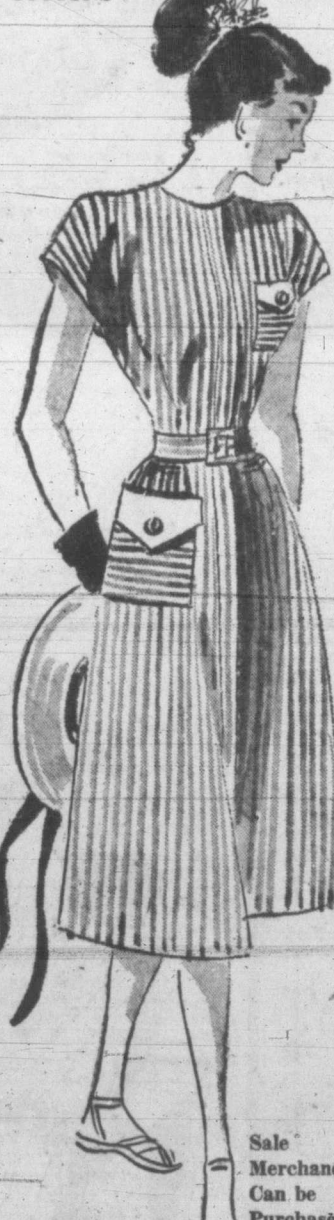

The slip which must be worn with a sheer dress may be lengthened at the top by lengthening shoulder straps. Slips lowered at the top, however, present a problem of bra exposure unless you wear lower-cut wire bras. These will also eliminate a second set of straps which can look unlovely through sheer dress tops.

When laundering new, longer slips, wash carefully to avoid shrinkage. The slip that emerges from the wash tub two inches shorter usually suffers that loss because the water was too hot. To avert that fate wash a slip in lukewarm water.

The trick of pulling a slip its full vertical length when ironing will also help to keep original length intact.

The tall girl who has trouble buying slips long enough will be wise to take a larger size and sacrifice clinging fit for length.

U.S. Educationist Talks To Kiwanians

"Education is the process by which the individual is prepared to take his place as a participating member of the world. The instrument used in this process is the school," Dr. Roy G. Bose, director of research and guidance of Santa Monica schools, who is at present giving a series of lectures at the B.C. Summer School, told members of the Victoria Kiwanis Club Tuesday.

"In America today we have a school system but we do not have an educational system," he said.

By the last U.S. census, taken in 1940, it was found that the number of years spent at school by Americans varied greatly in the different sections of the country. In Arkansas it was found that the average adult had attended school for five years. At the other extreme, the citizens of Utah maintained an average standing of above ninth grade.

Dr. Bose stated there had been very little interest shown by the public in the problem of education until a report was published in the New York Times on educational conditions in various parts of the country.

The Times report disclosed that from 1940 to 1945, 350,000 teachers had left the teaching profession to take better paying jobs in industry and that 125,000 persons, who were not fully qualified, were teaching on emergency or sub-standard certificates.

"The most startling fact in the report," Dr. Bose continued, "was that there were 70,000 positions unfilled. This meant that there were 70,000 empty classrooms." "Since this report was published, Americans have become aware of the dangerous situation which faces them and have realized that education is big business."

Opposing Britain's Economic Policy

LONDON (Reuter)—Britain's Communists have begun an all-out propaganda campaign against the Labor government's "Marshall policy."

Following publication of articles on these lines by the party's secretary, Harry Pollitt, and its economic expert, J. R. Campbell, in the Daily Worker, the party executive issued an official statement Tuesday night linking the "Marshall policy" with Britain's dollar crisis and specifically asking for the replacement of Foreign Secretary Bevin and Herbert Morrison, chief planning minister, as "architects of disaster."

The gist of the statement was that Britain's dollar crisis was due to what it called the government's pro-American foreign policy, which was said to involve crippling military expenditures overseas and to have hampered effective Socialist reconstruction at home, and that the way out chosen by the government—reliance on State Secretary Marshall's aid-to-Europe offer, would only increase Britain's dependence on the U.S. and thus sharpen her economic difficulties.

The statement developed an alternative policy, which the Communists will henceforth propagate throughout the British Labor movement.

New Immigration Wave Reaches B.C.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The long forecasted big immigration influx into Canada is beginning to make itself felt in British Columbia.

D. C. McDonnell, immigration superintendent for B.C., said today his office was going through the "busiest period the immigration authorities have ever known."

Applications for entry were being dealt with from prospective British immigrants in the United Kingdom and India, Americans, Mennonites from Holland, Germany and Poland, Dutch and Scandinavians.

Inquiries from army officers and civil servants in India were especially numerous.

"The majority of these want to establish themselves on land or in business," said McDonnell. "Many have considerable capital or substantial pensions."

Immigrants who recently arrived, included 30 ex-servicemen from the United Kingdom, four families from Scotland, Mennonites and a lone Hawaiian.

Woman Candidate In Quebec By-election

HUNTINGDON, Que. (CP)

According to the calendar, today was official nomination day for the Huntingdon provincial by-election a week from today, but traveling through the district there is no way to know it is much more than just another time of the year.

Though both Mrs. Mae O'Connor, Liberal candidate and widow of Dennis J. O'Connor, whose death caused the by-election, and John G. Rennie, National Union candidate, are determined to be elected, the campaign is going forward in a leisurely manner.

Premier Maurice Duplessis has sought to gain a National Union win by citing his government's legislation as an exemplary record. Opposition Leader Adelard Godbout has pointed to Mr. Duplessis' failure to co-operate with the federal government.

One record will go in the books at least. Whether she wins or loses, Mrs. O'Connor will have broken the ice for women candidates in provincial politics. The Liberals are counting on the mixed nature of the riding, French, English, Scottish and

Governors To Study Marshall Plan

SALT LAKE CITY (AP)—Republican governors made it plain today they will await a specific blueprint of the Marshall European rebuilding plan before they commit their party to a full endorsement of economic aid abroad.

Governor Earl Warren of California told a reporter at the Governors' Conference here that before he offers unqualified endorsement of the proposal of State Secretary Marshall for U.S. aid to the distressed countries of Europe, he wants to see in black and white the economic justification for such a potentially expensive program.

Warren said he endorses in principle Marshall's proposal to furnish financial aid to those countries which otherwise might drift rapidly away from the democratic orbit.

But Warren asserted the cabinet member's program must face the test of virtually unanimous agreement by the 16 nations at the Paris conference on their minimum needs, plus the detailed analysis of this country's ability to pay.

The critical point, Warren said, will turn on whether the plan finally is based on the premise that the United States furnishes only the help by which the European nations are able to help themselves reconstruct their war-devastated economy.

Lords Pass Bill To Nationalize Transport

LONDON (CP)—The Labor government's bill to nationalize inland transport was approved on third reading by the predominantly Conservative House of Lords Tuesday, after it had been amended a dozen times over government protest.

There was no recorded vote on the passage. The bill, previously approved by the House of Commons, was returned to the lower chamber, where a bitter fight is forecast on the amendments, of a technical or administrative nature.

The bill would bring bus lines, railroads and long distance truckers under government ownership by next January.

India's mills normally produce about 90 per cent of the world's supply of burlap.

Saanich Council Approves Motion On Gordon Head Airpark Project

A motion moved by Councillor W. C. Kersey that the engineer and Air Park Committee be authorized to prepare a plan on the proposed air park showing what extent private property would be involved if the project were undertaken at Gordon Head, was approved by the majority of councillors at a special meeting of the Saanich Council Tuesday.

The motion, adopted by a vote of five to three, marked the first definite action the council has taken to clarify the air park project—one of the most controversial questions which the Saanich Council has had to deal with in years.

Last week a similar motion proposed by Councillor Leslie Passmore was held up by a deadlock vote caused by Reeve E. C. Warren who supported the opposition side against the project.

But this week opposing members lost ground when they tried to bring the issue to a head and to obtain a vote against the project.

The motion was approved due to Councillor E. Cummins, who last week had supported the reeve, Councillors Hobbs and Oliver. He voted this week in favor of the motion, thus preventing the repetition of a tie-vote, which would have resulted in the council being no further ahead in settling the matter.

In submitting the motion for approval, Councillor Kersey requested the council that the engineer and the Air Park Committee be asked to draft a complete plan with regard to the flightways and any obstructions which might have to be removed if the project were undertaken.

"Before we should take any action on the project, for or against, we should get a definite plan on the air park project," he said. "Then the council can reject or accept the plan."

HOBBS OPPOSES
Opposing the motion, Councillor Len Hobbs appealed to the council to turn down the air park project on the grounds that the majority of ratepayers who resided near the area were against the plan.

Three hundred ratepayers within a mile of the proposed air park are against the project," he said. "I say, the petition of 300 people cannot be set aside. Our first responsibility is to our ratepayers."

He warned the councillors they were treading on dangerous ground in not listening to the voice of the ratepayers.

"We must give these people a hearing," he said. "They bought valuable property under the cloak of it being zoned. We have no right now to announce we are going to rezone the property."

In answer, Councillor Kersey said he would vigorously oppose the air park project if it meant that several homes would have to be pulled down. "But let's find out first if this will be necessary and if it will involve private property," he added.

Councillor Leslie Passmore said that many of the ratepayers who were against the air park project had been misled in believing the air park would be used for commercial purposes.

"I know of one person who vigorously opposed the project because he believed this to be the case," he said. "This same person told me the other day that he would vote for the project if he could be assured that the property would only be used as a private airfield. There are many others who think the same."

Councillor George Rudd said the opinion of Mr. Hobbs that the council would be breaking its promise by rezoning the property was no argument for turning down the air park project.

"Hundreds—thousands of promises have been made by previous councils with regard to zoning," he said, "but none of them have ever proved definite and final."

NO PRECEDENT
He pointed out that the council was not creating a precedent by changing its view on zoning by citing numerous examples where property had been rezoned contrary to promises.

"Sometimes it is necessary to rezone a property," he said. "Conditions change and councils have to take steps to meet the situation."

Councillor Oliver expressed the opinion that as the majority of ratepayers near the area had voted against the project there was nothing else to do but to turn down the project.

"What's the use of giving them a hearing if we go ahead and approve the plan," he said. "We have to follow their advice."

The argument waxed to and fro between opposing parties, with a further appeal by Councillor Hobbs to turn down the project. Reeve Warren read from a newspaper clipping which quoted federal Minister C. D. Howe as saying there was only 27 private licenses issued this year for private planes, and expressed the opinion that there would be little benefit in building an air park.

meeting had said very little on the subject.

The motion was finally put to a vote which resulted in Councillors Kersey, Passmore, Rudd, Alexander and Cummins supporting the motion. The reeve, Councillors Oliver, Hobbs voted against.

Would End Waste Of St. Lawrence

WASHINGTON (AP)—Francis E. Wilby, chairman of the New York State Power Authority, asserted today the "need and value" of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project is "clearly established by the overwhelming weight of evidence."

Legislation authorizing the project, approved Tuesday by a Senate foreign relations sub-committee, is currently under consideration by the House Public Works Committee. Wilby, in testimony before the latter, said:

"By providing low-cost power and low-cost navigation, the project will create new wealth and stimulate growth of industry. It will thus add to the sum total of production, trade and freight tonnage available to existing ports, canals, railroads, trucks and other transportation agencies."

With respect to the power phase of the project, Wilby said it was "shocking" to continue to permit the latent resources of the St. Lawrence to "go to waste."

The power output, estimated at 2,200,000 horsepower annually, would be shared equally between the United States and Canada.

To Build Houses Of Cinder Blocks

OTTAWA (CP)—A company of Ottawa businessmen is being formed to begin construction of 35 cinder block houses to be completed by the fall.

C. E. Pickering, a spokesman for the group, said the purpose of the scheme was "not to solve the housing problem" but "demonstrate it is possible for private enterprise to make a fair profit and yet provide homes for small wage-earners."

The five-room bungalows would cost a maximum of $3,500 each.

No, she's not joking.

You see, she's a very smart woman. Like many other people, she's found that the things she wants most are either not available yet, or that the monthly payments required are too much for her budget. So she's saving a little at a time from her allowance, in a Savings Account at the Bank of Montreal.

Sometimes, she can spare only a couple of dollars—other times, as much as five. But she's saving regularly—and her growing nest-egg is her assurance that she will be able to buy the things she's set her heart on.

There are many wise Canadians like her. Well over a million are saving at the B of M—saving today to make sure that their wishes will be realized tomorrow.

—What are you hoping your tomorrow will bring? ... A car? ... A living room suite? ... A summer cottage? Whatever it is, you can get it by saving at the B of M. Why not start today?

Yankees Capture Pair To Equal Own Record

The onrushing New York Yankees added Cleveland's Bob Feller to their list of victims last night when they registered their 15th and 16th consecutive victories by winning both ends of a twilight-night American League doubleheader from the Indians 9 to 4 and 2 to 1.

A ninth-inning single by Joe DiMaggio and a triple by Bill Johnson enabled the Yankees to tie their previous high victory skein set in 1926. Chicago White Sox hold the American League record of 19 in 1906 and the all-time mark is 26 hung up by New York Giants in 1916.

The twin triumph increased the Yankees' first place lead to 11 games over second-place Detroit despite the Tigers' 11 to 6 twilight game victory over Washington.

The last-place Pittsburgh Pirates handed the National League leading Brooklyn Dodgers a double jolt 12 to 4 and 9 to 3 at Ebbets Field. Rookie outfielder Wally Wastlake drove in seven runs in the opener with base-clearing double and grand slam home run.

St. Louis Cardinals defeated the Braves in a night game at Boston 8 to 2 to move to 4½ games behind the Dodgers. Rookie righthander Jim Hearn won his sixth game for the Cards.

New York Giants shut out the Chicago Cubs 4 to 0 to move within 3½ games of the lead. Will Marshall walloped his 21st home run of the year and Walker Cooper his 20th.

Ewell Blackwell chalked up his 14th straight victory and his 16th of the season as he pitched Cincinnati Reds to a 5 to 4 win over the Phils in Philadelphia.

Tillicums Win As J.B.A.A. Falters In Final Periods

Failing to display the form that enabled them to defeat Canadian Legion in their first start, J.B.A.A. boxia squad came apart at the seams in the final three quarters of last night's tilt and dropped a 12 to 9 verdict to Tillicums.

Building up a 5 to 1 lead in the first quarter, Bays seemed well on their way to their third triumph of the season, but weak defensive work in front of the nets enabled the clubmen to knot the count at 6 to 6 in the second quarter and then go ahead with two quick markers just before half time.

Phil Marchildon won his 10th game as he pitched Philadelphia Athletics to an 8 to 1 triumph over the Browns in St. Louis.

Important Meeting Of V.A.S.C. Tonight

Final arrangements for the holding of the Canadian Amateur swimming championships and the appointment of officials for the meet will be the order of business at a special meeting of the V.A.S.C. in the Crystal Garden tonight at 8.

In addition, all club swimmers and divers wishing to compete at Kelowna Aug. 5 and 6, are requested to attend.

AMATEUR BASEBALL

Tonight's senior amateur ball tilt at Macdonald Park will be between Pitzer and Nex and Navy, starting at 7. Barlow, a big lefthander, who formerly hurled for the R.C.A.F., is the likely choice for sailors, with Bernie Anderson or Al Turcotte slated to get the call for the gasmen.

Hodges Pulls Major Upset In Net Trials

The west-east Davis Cup trials got away to a flying start yesterday afternoon at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club. Although a passing shower brought a temporary halt to proceedings the grounds remained in good shape and play was not seriously disturbed.

A good gallery watched some closely fought tennis and by the end of the afternoon the easterners had three matches to their credit while the west was close behind with two matches won.

Big upset of the day came when Don Hodges of Regina playing in the number four slot for the west, scored a convincing win over Don McDiarmid of Ottawa, number two man on the eastern roster.

After winning a close first set 6-4, Hodges saw his opponent run up a five love lead in the second. Although he salvaged the sixth game the Regina player was too far behind and McDiarmid wasted no time in holding his own service for the set at 6-1. The third set saw a battle of service with Hodges getting the odd game lead and holding it all the way to 5-4. McDiarmid weakened in the 10th game as he dropped his delivery to give Hodges a well earned victory.

Meanwhile, on the next court number one eastern player Henri Rochon made short work of Vancouver's Art Jeffery as he dropped only 18 points in winning 6-1, 6-0 over the badly-rattled number three western man.

THRILLING DUEL

The opening matches over, the courts were cleared for the two outstanding battles of the day. Brendan Macken came through with a terrific win over Walt Stohlberg of Vancouver. The two men put on a wonderful exhibition of powerful serving and in the 30 game match, service was only broken three times and each time it cost the loser the set. Eighteen games were required to decide the first set. With games all square at eight all Stohlberg broke Macken's service after holding five-game points in the 17th game. He made no mistake winning the next game at love, and the set 10-8.

In the second set the service break came in the 10th game and this time it was in Macken's favor as he evened the match up at 6-4. The same ding-dong battle was resumed in the third set. Neither man gave anything away until Macken reached 6-5. In the 12th game he broke Stohlberg's service with the loss of one point to win a well-played match 7-5.

What Stohlberg failed to do his playing mate Jim Skelton accomplished in his match against Jim Macken, the younger of the two brothers. The pair put on a fine display and after trading the first two sets, fought the third one out over a bitter 22-game route. Winning the opener 6-4, Skelton dropped the second set 6-3, and squeezed out in the third at 12-10.

With two matches won for the east and two for the west, Rochon and McDiarmid went on the court and scored a rapid 6-1, 6-2, 6-3 doubles victory over Hodges and Jeffery. The eastern team controlled the play throughout the match, and took advantage of Jeffery's numerous errors at the net, to go one match up on the play for the day.

Play continues this afternoon and evening, with the Macken brothers scheduled to battle it out with Stohlberg and Skelton in the best-of-five sets doubles match commencing about 5.

Strong 'Y' Squad Seeks Canadian Track Titles

Bill Dale and Andy Gillespie, two former star members of the Flying "Y" track and field squad, were today named by co-coaches Archie McKinnon and Bruce Humber, to the team that will represent the local association at the Canadian championships in Vancouver Saturday.

Dale and Gillespie will run in the mile relay along with Jim Mill and Joe Isherwood. They have been working out daily in preparation for the Dominion meet and their inclusion in the relay squad will give the "Y" a good chance for honors.

Marg Robertson, Pat Fleming, Elaine Silburn and Emily Kaltenbach will form the women's sprint relay team. Silburn will also enter the sprints as will Kaltenbach and Robertson. Fleming will take part in the jumps.

Captain Harry Mitchell, Rafael Duke and Don McNeil will com-

Bill Durnan Signs New Hockey Contract

MONTREAL (CP)—Bill Durnan, three-time winner of the Vezina trophy as the outstanding goalkeeper of the National Hockey League, and Murph Chamberlain, forward, have signed their 1947-48 contracts, Frank Selke, general manager of the Forum and the Montreal Canadiens announced today.

Selke said that Durnan and Chamberlain are the only players signed so far.

"We may have a meeting next week and after that I hope to be able to talk business with the players," Selke said.

When asked if he saw any likely prospects on his trip through the west last spring, he replied: "There are a couple of fellows who may be of some use to us sooner or later. Bob Carse played a couple of games for us and I think he merits a trial in the National Hockey League."

Selke also mentioned Tom Rockey, former Winnipeg Monarch defenceman, who played for Houston last year, as a future Canadian player.

Canadian Legion baseball team will practice at Macdonald Park tomorrow night at 6:30.

Early Kayo Forecast For Graziano-Zale Ring Clash

CHICAGO (AP)—The Tony Zale-Rocky Graziano tornado was to a show-down tonight. Zale, world's middleweight champion, and Challenger Graziano, two of the greatest offensive fighters of the last 10 years, will battle before upwards of 20,000 spectators who will contribute to a record all-time indoor gate of around $450,000.

The contest in the Chicago Stadium is scheduled for 15 rounds or less—undoubtedly less, considering the punching prowess of both. No one, including Zale and Graziano, believes it will go the limit. The consensus is that Zale will triumph within six rounds.

Zale, 33, defends his title for the second time against the challenge of Graziano, 25. This will be an encore of the knockdown-and-count Rocky-out thriller fought in New York last September in which Zale dragged himself off the canvas to win by a knockout in six savage rounds.

GRAZIANO READY

Graziano has trained harder and longer for tonight's battle than he ever did before. He considers his condition perfect and he expresses confidence of victory.

In the final summary, it will be age, fighting heart and experience versus youth. Graziano, with the advantage of youth, can punch with his right hand with terrific power and he is counting on connecting solidly with his right as quickly as possible. Zale has flatly predicted he would land a knockout punch within six rounds. To this statement, Graziano replies: "He's crazy. Wait and see what happens. I'll knock him out in any round he calls. And it won't last more than one or two."

By PETE SALLAWAY

CHATTING to Bob Brown who has held the distinction of being Mr. Baseball in Vancouver over the last century, one learns that the owner of the Vancouver Capilanos in the W.I.L. has some definite ideas on the modern version of the game. "It is interesting to see that a number of the major league managers and owners are beginning to feel the same way I do—that the present ball is much too lively and home runs are becoming too frequent," Brown said. "This year's ball is definitely .25 per cent 'hotter' than last season's product due mainly I think to a better rubber core, 100 per cent pure wool yarn and the use of a better under-covering. All these improvements naturally help the batters. Now it's time they did something to benefit the pitchers."

BROWN is solidly opposed to the idea of working a pitching staff in any definite system of rotation. "As you know some hurlers hold a definite jinx on certain clubs and I think they should be given every opportunity to work against those particular teams," Brown said. "I've seen it work out where a pitcher only had to go out and lay his glove on the mound and he could whip a certain team. Under such conditions it is foolish not to take every advantage of such a situation."

JUST about that time Brown's Vancouver club was at the plate. Victoria held a two-run lead and the visitors had two men in scoring position with two away. The batter up had two balls and no strikes on him. The next pitch was right down the slot and he took it. "He should have hit that pitch," Brown said in disgust. "He's got nothing to wait for and the next pitch may be a curve ball." Sure enough, the next offering was a hook and the batter popped up to the infield. "What did I tell you?" Brown queried. "Too many ball players don't use their brains in the clutch."

I ASKED Brown why the directors of the W.I.L. had never favored a playoff and was surprised to learn that he would back a post-season series, providing the league was split into two halves and the winners met in the final. However, he would also want a financial division between the first and second teams in each half. Brown has no use for the Shaughnessy system whereby the first four clubs in the final standings engage in a playoff. "That plan is a detriment to baseball as the team that finishes in first place, in a straight schedule, is the winner and the other clubs are playing for nothing," Brown said. "I'll agree such a playoff tends to make money but I'm still against it." Those are rough words from a fellow like Brown who has always been recognized as a keen operator in baseball circles.

A's Back Home After Halting Bremerton

Solid right arm of Len Kasparovitch once again came to the rescue of the Victoria Athletics last night as he tossed a five-hit performance at Bremerton Bluejackets and wound up with a 7 to 3 victory. It was Lenny's 11th mound win of the season and gave the A's one win in four starts at the Washington naval centre. Clubs were in Victoria today and will open a five-game series at Athletic Park tonight, starting at 8.

Bob Jensen, who failed to last through the first inning in a starting role Monday night, or Joe Blankenship, will likely get the nod to take the mound for the Athletics tonight.

In capturing their first game from the W.I.L. leaders in four starts, the Athletics blasted Hub Kittle, Bremerton's veteran right-hander from the mound after three innings. He was charged with the defeat after giving up eight hits for five runs. Pete Barisoff who relieved Kittle, was nipped for six hits and two runs in the remaining six innings.

Kasparovitch came up with eight strikeouts but ran into control trouble being charged with seven walks.

Pat Patterson and Jack Harshman paced the Victoria club at the plate, the former having a big night with four for five, including a three-bagger. Harshman picked up three for five. The A's hit well as a team with Vic Mastro and Kasparovitch being the only two to go hitless.

Staving off a last-inning Yakima rally, the Spokane Indians turned back the Stars 4 to 3 last night to cut a full game from the league lead of Bremerton.

Third-place Salem knocked off Wenatchee 8 to 3 in 10 innings and Tacoma regained an even 500 percentage with a twin win over Vancouver 5 to 4 and 3 to 2.

Spokane counted three times in the fourth and once in the seventh to overcome an early 2 to 0 Yakima lead. The losers loaded the sacks in the ninth but could push over only a single tally.

Eaglettes Defeat Taxi Girls; Meet Adverts In Semis

Scoring five runs in the first inning mainly on the strength of Jean Sufferin's three-run homer, Wally Yeaman's Eaglettes last night captured their final league contest in the women's senior A softball loop, defeating Army and Navy Taxi, 7 to 1, to finish in third place in the standings.

Ruth Oster was the winning pitcher losing her shutout in the sixth.

Sidney Merchants spotted New Method Laundry three runs in the first inning and then came from behind for a 6 to 3 win in a women's senior B contest.

Paterson Fails To Appear For Flyweight Title Fight

GLASGOW, Scotland (AP)—The twice-postponed world flyweight title fight between champion Jackie Paterson of Scotland and Dado Marino of Honolulu was called off again today when Paterson failed to appear for the weigh-in ceremony.

Harry McGrattan, secretary of the British Boxing Board of Control, said Paterson had collapsed and was in bed with a nervous breakdown. Marino's manager, Sam Ichinose, said he would claim the flyweight title.

Paterson was known to have been having trouble making the weight limit of 122 pounds. He was granted two postponements, June 11 and again July 9, because of boils on his arms and legs.

Oakland Takes Over Second Spot In Coast Baseball

Oakland Oaks, by the slim margin of one percentage point, had pushed into second place in the Coast League race today with the heavy-hitting Los Angeles Angels still on top by a comfortable six-game margin over their two closest rivals.

The Angels' 4 to 3 win over Hollywood last night and the Angels' 8 to 5 thumping of the San Francisco club was the combination that displaced the Seals from second place and moved Oakland up.

The Angels got to three San Francisco pitchers for 10 hits to win the opener of their series. The Seals threatened in the sixth when they tallied all their five runs, three of them on Roy Nicely's home run.

Portland edged up to fourth in the standings, ousting Sacramento. The Beavers opened a series with Seattle by defeating the Rainiers 8 to 3. Seattle got to Roy Helsler for 12 hits but couldn't bunch them effectively and the Rainiers were never able to over-

Foreign Ministers Leave Aid Parley; Experts Take Over

PARIS (AP)—With the visiting foreign ministers on their way home, economic experts of 16 countries settled down today to draft a balance sheet of Europe's resources and requirements under the Marshall plan.

The 16-nation co-operation or steering committee met at the French Foreign Ministry to lay out a working program for sub-committees on fuel and power, transport, food and agriculture and iron and steel. These sub-committees will be under a five-state executive committee.

Delegates of western and southern European countries approved the committee set-up in the third plenary session of the four-day conference. They will not meet again until the committee are ready to report, probably in late August or early September.

The conference has set Sept. 1 as a target date for completion of an executive committee report to be presented to the United States as a preliminary to getting U.S. aid, pledged by State Secretary Marshall in a Harvard University speech June 5.

There was some speculation to-day that a move might be made

Injured Official Progressing Well

James P. M. Hannah, deputy superintendent of motor vehicles here, who suffered serious head injuries in a blasting accident on the Cariboo Highway and is now in Vancouver General Hospital, is progressing well, according to doctors' reports received here by Superintendent G. A. Hood.

Mr. Hannah, who had been stopped on the highway in the Fraser Canyon for the blasting operations, was standing beside his car talking to two U.S. tourists when a flying rock from the blast struck him on the back of the head. Two operations were necessary to remove splinters resulting from the blow, but doctors now describe the outlook as "very bright."

Mr. Hood said he expected Mr. Hannah would have to remain in hospital several weeks and that it might be some months before he could return to work.

Frederick Element pleaded guilty in provincial police court this week to dangerous driving on the Island Highway July 12. A. I. Thomas, J.P., imposed a fine of $25 and costs and suspended his driver's license for three months. He was involved in an accident.

Fishermen Leave To Catch Tuna Off Washington Coast

A few fishing boats chugged out of the local harbor early this morning and headed for the open sea as word reached here that tuna fishing had begun off the coast of Washington.

The majority of fishermen, however, were still waiting for reports on the size of the tuna run before switching from salmon to tuna. It only takes a few hours to make ready the gear for tuna fishing.

Local fishermen said they were wary about starting too soon for the tuna fishing grounds because of the risk involved in this type of fishing. Tuna is a gamble which may bring a fisherman good returns or nothing at all. He may make as high as $5,000 if he is lucky.

To show the risk involved in fishing for tuna, one large fishing concern pointed out in 1944 their trollers only caught 1,100 pounds of tuna. In 1945, however, fishermen were more lucky and caught 375,000 pounds, while in the following year the catch dropped to 146,000 pounds.

"It's a risky business," said one official. "Fishermen are now wary about relying on tuna and won't change over unless they are sure the run is good."

Tuna is of particular interest here as Victoria is the main B.C. port for unloading the fish. Tuna runs are located from 30 to 60 miles off the coast. They are easy to catch and don't have to be dressed to be sold. A ton of fish brings a fisherman approximately $429.

Pensioners' Group To Hold Tag Day

The Canadian Pensioners' Association of the Great War Inc., Victoria branch, will hold its annual tag day here next Saturday, collecting funds to care for disabled veterans, their wives and children.

Formed more than 20 years ago and having successfully conducted more than 1,200 cases to date, the Victoria association offers its services to veterans of both world wars, whether or not they are members, and to old-age pensioners.

With living costs rising and expenses increasing the association is hoping for a large collection from the tag day, its only source of revenue.

Art Exhibit Opens At Robert House

An interesting display of water colors and etchings was opened Tuesday evening in the Uganda Room of Prince Robert House.

The paintings are the work of Amy Stone, who studied under the late George Pearce Ennis, past president of the American Water Color Association.

Landscapes predominate Miss Stone's group. Scenes portrayed are the habitants of old Quebec, the rugged coast of Maine and such scenic spots of Vancouver Island as the Gorge, Malahat, Cowichan Bay and Nanaimo.

The modern direct method has been used in presenting these scenes and bold use has been made of limited colors.

Floral studies included in Miss Stone's group have been on exhibit at the Royal Canadian Academy and the Montreal Art Gallery.

Etchings are by Maude Waugh. This group is concentrated on studies of wild bird life. Canada geese, ducks, gulls and herons are depicted in their natural surroundings.

Detail of the sketches is well balanced.

The exhibit will remain open to the public every day from 10 to 5 p.m., until July 21.

Visiting Senator's Son Catches Salmon

James Huggessen, 14-year-old son of Senator Adrian Huggessen of Montreal, was one of the most pleased visitors in the city yesterday afternoon. Out fishing with his father, the youngster hooked into a 25-pound salmon and landed it off Jimmy Chicken Island. It was taken on a Hansen plug and six ounces of weight. It was their first fishing trip in coast waters. Mrs. John Bowker reported that the boat occupied by R. F. Haymond and N. Jason took the first coho of the season, a six-pounder, off Golphinks Point with a small Hansen plug and six ounces of weight last evening.

Three persons who were found drunk in a parked car last night on the city streets were charged with being intoxicated in a public place. When booked each put up a $10 bail and on failing to appear in city police court this morning their bail was estreated.

Plastic Lung At Veterans' Hospital

A "Blanchard Mechanotherapist," or plastic lung, is now being used at Victoria Veterans' Hospital for the treatment of patients suffering from circulatory diseases. The equipment is a donation from R. W. Mayhew, M.P., and was installed this month. A transparent plastic shell surrounds the patient's chest, sealed at the neck, axilla and waist with rubber sheet bands. It is connected to a mechanical power unit by an accordion-type bellows which synchronizes with the patient's breathing.

Settlement Trends Show Need For Reassessment In City

Although New Westminster has announced plans to revise completely its assessment roll, no such action is contemplated in Victoria within the next year, it was reliably learned at the City Hall today.

It is the responsibility of the assessor's department to state the value of property for taxation purposes, and all the City Council can do is recommend a general reassessment. It has been generally conceded many areas within the city are not assessed according to, present property values, but to date no member of the City Council has hinted he is prepared to take the matter up and call for a reassessment.

During 1946 the assessor's office gave a 5 per cent upward revision of land values for commercial properties on Douglas, Yates and Fort Streets and Pandora Avenue, and the owners are paying the higher taxes this year as a result.

James Bay and Victoria West, assessed originally when they were among the choicest residential areas in the city, are now claimed by many to be over-assessed, while other areas such as Oaklands which were felt to be "working class" districts when the original assessment was made are said to be now under-assessed.

Local Ration Board Gets New Name

In Baxter, secretary of the local ration board, was notified today that effective July 1, the ration administration would be amalgamated with the sugar administration, to carry out the rationing program of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

It will be known as sugar administration, W.P.T.B., instead of ration administration.

The move according to the director of local ration boards was made "to effect further economies and in line with good business practice."

"Local ration boards will be dealing with the same personnel and will carry out the same functions as heretofore," he wrote. "The only change in the present procedure is that all correspondence and directives, received by local ration boards, will be in the name of the sugar administration, W.P.T.B., instead of ration administration, W.P.T.B."

Building permits have been issued to J. S. Ruddle to build a two-room and four-room dwelling at 691 Burnside Road, $7,500; and to L. R. Collard to build a five-room house at 3019 Balfour Street, $5,500.

Statistics Director Returns to Victoria

J. D. B. Scott, director of vital statistics for the provincial government, who suffered a heart attack while flying to Ottawa last May, has returned to Victoria and is now resting at home. It is not yet known when he will return to his office.

Mr. Scott, who was to attend a vital statistics conference in the Dominion capital, was stricken by the attack shortly after leaving Lethbridge. He was taken off the plane at Regina and was confined in hospital there until his return to this city.

Leonard M. Reilly of the Toronto Optimist Club will be guest speaker at the local club's luncheon meeting in the Empress Hotel Grill, Thursday.

The City Fire Department attended at the 900 block of Wharf Street shortly after noon today to put out a small grass fire.

Former Padre Of Canadian Scottish Visiting Victoria

British Columbia shares with other provinces in suffering a serious housing shortage, according to Rev. R. L. Seaborn, former padre of the First Battalion of the Canadian Scottish, who is visiting Victoria.

Mr. Seaborn, now a rector of St. Peter's Church, Colbourn, Ont., expressed the opinion housing conditions were just as bad in Ontario as in B.C., due largely to the expansion of industry.

The Anglican minister will be the guest of the Canadian Scottish Regiment at a smoker and a party to be held this week. He served with the first battalion in the invasion of Normandy, and was one of its most popular officers.

Since his arrival on the west coast, the former padre has been called upon twice to baptize babies of fathers who had served with the "Fighting Scottish." He has baptized the son of Maj. W. H. V. Mathews, M.C., at Cowichan Station church, and now he has been asked to baptize the one-month-old baby of Bruce McDowall, a former member of the regiment, residing in Victoria.

Motorcycle, Bicycle Collide; Boy Hurt

A compound fracture of the right arm and fractured ribs were sustained by nine-year-old Larry Rantz, son of Henry Rantz, 881 Island Highway, late Tuesday afternoon when the bicycle he was riding was in collision with a motorcycle in charge of Alan Neal, Malahat Chalet, on the Island Highway near Langford Lake.

Constable Jack Lockie of the Provincial Police and the C. & C. Ambulance attended, the latter taking the youth to hospital, the officer transporting Neal for hospital attention for cuts and bruises.

The Optimist Club will hold a picnic at the Experimental Farm, Saanichton, Sunday. Transportation will leave the Y.M.C.A. at 1. Children will be provided with soft drinks and ice cream.

Publisher Notes New Importance Of West Coast Area

"The west coast states are no longer remote sections of America," J. M. McClelland, publisher of the Longview Daily News, Longview, Wash., said today while in Victoria on a one-day visit.

During the war the coast was overcrowded with people from the interior who came to work in war plants, Mr. McClelland said. It was thought at the time that after the war there would be a general exodus. Instead, everyone seems to be staying and thousands of returning veterans are bringing their families west to settle.

"According to figures issued by the U.S. Veterans' Administration, there are 40,000 returned G.I.'s in Washington and 30,000 in Oregon," he said.

California is also having an influx of returned soldiers, the publisher noted.

"This increase of population has given the west a new significance in the eyes of the people in other parts of the country and has helped develop the west for the westerners," Mr. McClelland stated.

Housing is still a major problem but steps are being taken to find a solution by building small houses on a mass production scale and re-converting old houses, the visitor said.

Mr. McClelland is a member of the Washington State Planning Commission and is one of the original directors of what is now the Evergreen Playground.

Saanich municipality has agreed to institute a system of school traffic patrols, similar to those in the city, the City Council was informed today and plans to pass a similar authorizing by-law, at the request of the Greater Victoria School Board.

Firing On Program For A-A, Artillery Soldiers At Camp

Over Esquimalt and for some miles up the island west coast, the thunder of heavy field pieces will be heard next week as Reserve Army heavy ack-ack and heavy artillery men, established at Macaulay Point camp, go into the firing part of the training schedule.

The camp is comprised of 150 all ranks from anti-aircraft, heavy artillery and signal units. Replacing them at the end of their two-week period will be other reserve units. This camp is from July 29 to Aug. 9.

The present camp is composed of elements of Edmonton's 20th Heavy A-A Regiment, the 43rd Heavy A-A Regiment from Vancouver, 5th Coast Regiment from Victoria, 15th Coast Regiment from Vancouver and Prince Rupert, Victoria and Vancouver contingents of the West Coast Signal Regiment.

Purpose of the camp—which is a command camp under the jurisdiction of Maj. Gen. F. F. Worthington, C.B., C.B.E., M.C., M.M., G.O.C. Western Army Command—is to train officers, warrant officers, N.C.O.'s and potential N.C.O.'s so that they will be better equipped to handle their units on return to home towns.

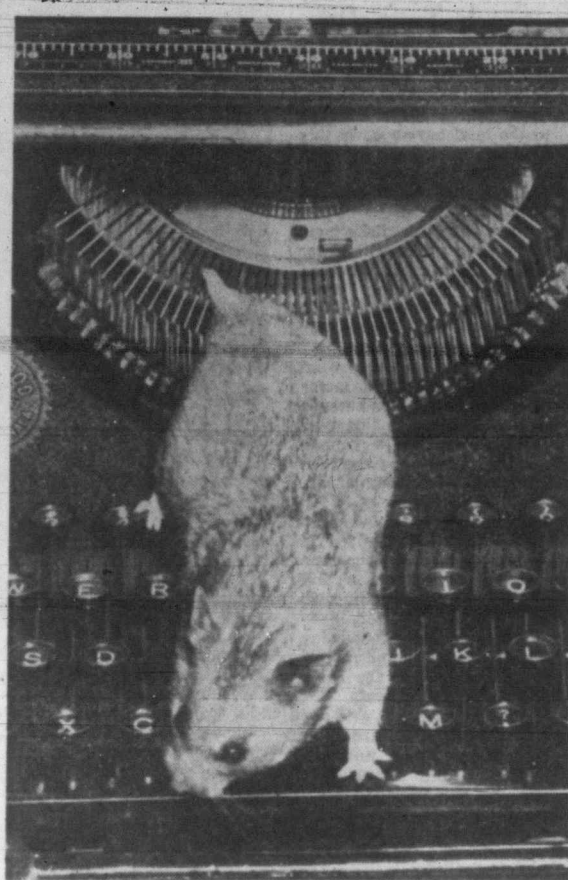

Officers and N.C.O.'s of the Permanent Army have been attached to the units to give full instruction.

The artillery men are being instructed in heavy counter-bombardment. Signals personnel's training includes maintenance and driving signal vehicles and other equipment. The heavy ack-ack soldiers are being instructed in the latest equipment, including advances in radar in relation to artillery. Radar instruction also includes use of searchlights and plotting room procedure.

Camp commandant is Lt. Col. A. C. Perron, E.D. Capt. T. Moore is chief instructor of the Reserve Army camp.

Target-towing aircraft from Picton, Ont., will work with the ack-ack units.

Newcomer To Province

The chipmunk-like looking little animal exploring one of the type-writers in the Times office is a Syrian Golden Hamster, the first to be brought to British Columbia. Paul Michelin of Cobble Hill brought the friendly little creature into the office, and stated that he is breeding them at his home. He bought a pair of them in the southern United States last January.

The animals, of the rodent family, were first discovered by a medical missionary near Aleppo, Syria, in 1930. In their natural state they burrow, but as pets they live happily in cages with either straw or excelsior on the floor, Mr. Michelin said. They breed prolifically, as all rodents do, but are much cleaner than rats. They have no odor, Mr. Michelin said, and eat nuts, grains, or prepared dog food.

The little fellow was exceedingly friendly and enjoyed being petted. His fur is a golden-brown color, with a darker brown near the skin. It is like heavy plush and Mr. Michelin was considering trying to breed them as fur-bearing animals as well as pets.

The Hamster has pouches in his cheeks like a chipmunk, hides food he does not wish to eat immediately in a corner of his cage. He has only the smallest stub of a tail.

School Inspector Writes Of Province

A 30-page feature, illustrated with 42 beautiful photographs of the province of British Columbia, written by John Gough, municipal inspector of schools, is the leading article of the July issue of the Canadian Geographical Journal, which is now on the newsstands.

Mr. Gough, who has written two school texts for social studies classes, has given a careful and comprehensive outline of the life, history and geography of his home province.

He starts the article with a brief outline of the province's history, including how Queen Victoria named it in 1858, and some detail of the early explorers and the boundary dispute of the 1840's.

The topography, climate, population, waterways, regions and industries are all discussed by the author. He gives a loving description of Victoria as a "city of enchanting seascapes and beautiful gardens" and details many of the tourist attractions with which the city abounds.

Message From King As Liner Sails

LIVERPOOL—The sailing of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada for Montreal today was referred to by the King as "the restoration of a vital link in our Commonwealth communications."

An exchange of messages between the King and W. M. Neal, chairman and president of the C.P.R., and messages from Prime Minister King and Rt. Hon. Alfred Barnes, British minister of transport, were read at a shipboard luncheon Tuesday by J. C. Paterson, European general manager of the Canadian Pacific.

BOTH MALE AND FEMALE ELEPHANTS GROW LARGE
TUSKS IN AFRICA

There are several kinds of ivory, but the kind which comes from the tusks of elephants can be ranked "first." For thousands of years people have taken tusks from elephants, and have carved things out of them.

If we study an elephant closely, we may see how the tusks grow. The incisor teeth of a young bull elephant grow long, and come out of the mouth from the upper jaw. As the years pass, they keep on growing until they reach a length of several feet.

Among the elephants of southern Asia, the males often produce good-sized tusks. The common weight is only from 30 to 40 pounds, but now and then the tusk of an Asiatic, or Indian elephant weighs from 100 to 150 pounds.

The female elephants of India seldom grow tusks. Now and then a female, or cow, does have a pair of tusks, but that is far from common.

In Africa, on the other hand, the cow elephants, as well as the males, have good, strong tusks.

The tusks of African elephants are much larger, on the average, than those of Asia's elephants. A tusk from Africa with a weight of 165 pounds was given to King George V as a wedding present.

Even larger tusks have been obtained. One pair of these had an average weight of 225 pounds for each tusk.

An eight-foot tusk is a long one, but a few elephant tusks with a length of 10 or 11 feet have come out of Africa. One of

Cadets End Two-Week Camp With Track Meet

The first of three two-week camps for air cadets at the R.C.A.F. station, Patricia Bay, culminated Tuesday afternoon with a track and field meet. Seen above is a section of the crowd which lined the cinder track. Pat Bay is this year's camp for both B.C. and Albertan cadets. Two hundred and ninety-seven boys attended the first camp.

William "Timber" Anderson, Alberta, set the pace for intermediate distance runners at the air cadet track meet. His time in winning the intermediate half-mile event was 2 minutes 29 seconds.

these has a length of 11 feet and five inches!

When elephants are killed by hunters, the tusks usually are sent to market, and they provide what is known as "fresh ivory." Natives of Africa also look around for stores of "dead ivory"—taken from the tusks of elephants which died of illness or old age.

In a broad sense, the teeth of any furry animal are made up of ivory. Sometimes the teeth of people are called "ivories," but that is rather a playful way of speaking.

The teeth or tusks of the walrus, the hippopotamus and the sperm whale supply ivory for the market. The long, central tusk which juts out from the head of the narwhal also provides ivory.

DOMINION THEATRE

Movie fans are treated to the rare spectacle of Hollywood kidding itself in Republic's "Hit Parade of 1947," which is currently at the Dominion Theatre, with Constance Moore, Eddie Albert, Gil Lamb, Joan Edwards in the top spots, and Woody Herman and his band. Republic is merciless in its own self-ridicule in "Hit Parade." The picture is a movie about a movie, and Republic scenarists have impishly hit on the ancient and honorable institution of the serial, the so-called "chapter thriller," or—less elegantly—the "cliff hanger" for their most hilarious lampooning sequence.

2 Football Players Have Limited Time As Movie Actors

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Glenn Davis and Doc Blanchard, who crowded a lot of football into 60 minutes last fall, now are working against a different deadline. They will have to do a lot of movie making in three weeks, or else.

The Army grid greets have started a film tentatively titled "On Parade," and it is imperative that they finish the job by the end of the month. They have a date Aug. 2 with someone who won't wait—their Uncle Sam. Glenn is to report to the infantry at Fort Riley, Kas., and Doc to head for air training at Randolph Field.

I found Glenn wandering around the set at General Service Studio, watching how the movie business operates. Doc had the day off.

Glenn said the picture would be a simple story of their lives, how they met and how they got into West Point. "There will be no love interest, except for a bit involving Doc at the army prom."

As for their acting, he explained, "we're just going to act as naturally as possible. Isn't that the way acting should be in pictures?" He said neither of them had done any serious emoting before, although Glenn sang in high school operettas.

Their film, from which they will receive a percentage of the profits, will probably cost less than $200,000.

ANOTHER BARRYMORE
The latest family addition to Hollywood is John Drew Colt, 30-year-old son of Ethel Barrymore. He has started his movie career in "Imagination," in which he plays a stage manager. He does not possess the traditional profile; he's dark and Valentino-like.

Needless to say, acting is nothing new for John. He played stock in his teens, was graduated to Broadway and then gave up acting for insurance when the theatre slumped. After three

6 Top Stars Head 'Blaze Of Noon' Cast

Six of filmland's most popular players are starred in Paramount's aviation epic, "Blaze of Noon," opening today at the Capitol Theatre.

The stellar roles in the picture of Ernest K. Gann's best-selling novel of the thrilling pioneer days of the air mail are enacted by Anne Baxter, so sensational in "The Razor's Edge," William Holden, Sonny Tufts, William Bendix, Sterling Hayden and Howard Da Silva.

Holden and Hayden, whose meteoric careers were interrupted by the war, mark their return to films in "Blaze of Noon," while Howard Da Silva gains stardom in this film as a reward for his outstanding performance of the brutal captain in "Two Years Before the Mast."

ROYAL THEATRE

Stephen Longstreet, author of "Stallion Road," the new Warner Bros. film co-starring Ronald Reagan, Alexis Smith and Zachary Scott, now at the Royal Theatre, began his career as a cartoonist and has kept up his art techniques. He recently had a one man show of more than 150 of his oil and watercolor paintings in the Wepplo Galleries in Hollywood.

OAK BAY THEATRE

June Allyson, currently seen on the Oak Bay screen in "The Secret Heart," is going into the business of raising thoroughbred French poodles.

To start the new breed line Miss Allyson has bought two of the popular dogs. She has named them Pat and Casey because the canines, though of French blood, were raised in Ireland!

"I have to use a brogue when I call them," says June.

ATLAS THEATRE

The entire town of Liberal, Kans., as it appeared in 1880, was faithfully reproduced at the huge RKO ranch for scenes in "Trail Street," spectacular outdoor drama of the early turbulent days in the State, which is being shown at the Atlas Theatre. Starring are Randolph Scott as the famous fighting marshal, "Bat" Masterson; Robert Ryan, Anne Jeffreys and George "Gabby" Hayes.

PLAZA THEATRE
The Great Expectations of Pip, a blacksmith's apprentice, come true when he is left a fortune. It is not until he is grown up that he learns his benefactor is Magwitch, an escaped convict to whom Pip showed a kindness. To repay Pip, Magwitch left him all the money he had made in Australia. "Great Expectations" is now showing at the Plaza Theatre, and stars Valerie Hobson and John Mills.

PRISCILLA'S POP

Local Hunters Want Spike Bucks To Stay As Legal Targets

Because of the danger of the young bucks being left to rot in the woods, like does are now when mistakenly shot, the Victoria Fish and Game Protective Association is emphatically against a game law limiting deer bags to "forks or better."

A motion to this effect was passed at Tuesday night's general meeting when a resolution calling for support of the "forks or better" scheme was read from an up-island club.

There was not a single voice raised in favor of the resolution from up-island. Fine progress is being made at Goldstream Park in work to establish a clubhouse and a trap and skeet range, members were told. Several work parties are planned and it is expected that the concrete for the foundations of the clubhouse will be poured by Sunday. The scattergun range is also near completion.

DERBY OPEN TO PUBLIC

With regard to the two-month salmon derby being staged by the association in the waters from Esquimalt around to Cowichan Bay, both inclusive, it was reported that the ticket sale has been good and that a fair number of fish have already been registered for the handsome prize list, which is topped by a new car as first consolation.

It was stressed that the competition is open for public participation and that those who enter do not have to be members of the fish-game club. Competition closes September 1.

The local archery club representative appeared at the meeting. He was favorable toward his club joining the association and establishing a range at Goldstream.

WOMEN'S GOLF

In the first women's medal competition held in four years at the Colwood Golf Club, Mrs. Todd-Finney was the winner of the silver division with 87-4-83.

New Miami Township Will Welcome Horses

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—H. E. Hardy's love for horses has caused the creation of a new township known as Virginia Gardens where ole dobbin is as welcome as its most distinguished citizen.

Hardy, whose affection for horses dates back many years, became annoyed when Miami Springs passed an ordinance prohibiting the housing of horses within 200 feet of an occupied dwelling.

"Burned up," Hardy decided to do something. With the assistance of others who wanted to keep horses, he formed the mile square area of Virginia Gardens, where there'll be no such law. Hardy is the mayor.

SANDOWN, Isle of Wight—Pog, a 12-month-old spaniel, fell 200 feet over a cliff, and was found on the rocks below uninjured, though badly shaken.

Mrs. T. Matson won the bronze division with 101-20-81.

Social Situations

The situation: A business associate whose wife you have never met invites you to dinner at his home and you accept but something happens on the day of the dinner to make it impossible for you to go.

Wrong way: Explain the situation to your associate and ask him to explain the matter to his wife.

Right way: Explain the situation to your business associate, and also telephone his wife to make your apologies.

Here Is Life
As It's Lived In Victoria

THE true story of Life as it is lived in Victoria—its vivid, colorful patchwork of human experience—filled with drama, pathos, comedy and romance, is unfolded for your profit and entertainment day after day in the Times Classified Ads.

It is written, not by a single person, but by thousands of people who are themselves characters in the story; and whose lack of writing skill is more than offset by the richness and sincerity of the tale itself.

In reality, these people are the City. Their lives are its life; their problems its problems; their needs and aims, its needs and aims. What they buy and sell; what they rent and trade; what jobs they offer and take; what services they render, form the basis of Victoria's revenues.

The forces that drive them; the varied needs and problems underlying their Ad-appeals, are the glistening threads of human interest that highlight the pattern of Victoria's design for living.

If you know Victoria really well and benefit fully from its dazzling opportunities, don't overlook reading its Personal and Business Diary in the Times Want Ads today and every day.
